FILIBUSTERING SOUTHERNERS BEAT DOWN FEPC BILL

G. M. ELECTRIC STRIKE SETTLED

Dispute Ended On Basis Of 18½ Cents An Hour Increase

AGREEMENT STILL LEAVES 175,000 WORKERS IDLE

DETROIT, Feb. 9. — (AP) — General Motors Corp. announced today that a strike of 25,000 electrical workers employed at its plants had been settled on the basis of an 18 1 2 cents an hour wage increase.

The company made its announcement in a joint statement with James Matles, director of organization for the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CIO).

The agreement, both parties said, was reached "through collective bargaining" and is being submitted to local unions for ratification.

Thus General Motors became the first of the three large companies, which also included General Electric and Westinghouse, to settle with the U. E. W.-C. I. O. The union called out some 200,000 workers at plants of the three firms January 15, demanding a $2 a day raise.

If ratified, the agreement will provide for a resumption of work at five G. M. electrical division plants. These are Frigidaire and Delco Products at Dayton, O.; Packard Electric Co., Warren, O.; Delco Appliance, Rochester, N. Y., and the Antioch Foundry at Yellow Springs, O.

Negotiations had been in progress since October 10. The corporation was represented by Harry W. Anderson, vice president in charge of personnel; Harry B. Coen, director of labor relations, and Stephen M. Dubrul, G. M. economist.

In addition to Matles the union negotiators included: Neil Brant, chairman of the G. M.-U. E. W. (CIO) Negotiating Committee, and several others.

In New York, Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Electric Company, said his company's dispute with the electrical workers was in the hands of mediators who he said had not held any recent sessions.

"I suppose," Wilson said, "they are waiting for the national price pattern to be set."

He added that the attitude of General Electric remained that: "We're waiting for price relief."

In Pittsburgh, a spokesman for the strikebound Westinghouse Electric Corp. said the GM settlement had "no particular significance" as far as Westinghouse is concerned.

"The General Motors operations in which the United Electrical Workers' Union is the bargaining unit represents a comparatively small part of our total operation," the spokesman said. "Westinghouse will continue its discussions of the union's wage demand with the two mediators appointed by Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach."

The agreement, however, still leaves 175,000 C. I. O. United Auto Workers on strike in 70-odd General Motors plants throughout the nation. That walkout began November 21 largely over the union's demand for a 30 per cent wage increase.

Walter P. Reuther, U. A. W.-C. I. O. vice president and leader of the auto union's strike, said he would have no comment until he has seen the full text of the electrical workers' agreement.

The U. A. W.-C. I. O. accepted a presidential fact-finding board's recommendation for a 19 1 2 cents an hour (17.5 per cent) boost, but reverted to its 30 per cent demand a week later when General Motors turned it down. Since then Reuther said the union would halt the strike if the fact-finders' figure were of-

MISSISSIPPI MAN IS KILLED IN RIOT

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Col. Clarence P. Evers said that one prisoner was shot fatally and an officer suffered a broken arm and a possible skull fracture in what he termed a food riot in the United States disciplinary barracks today.

Colonel Evers, commandant of the barracks, stated that about five or six inmates were involved in the riot which began, he said, when the prisoners staged a demonstration for additional food.

The man killed was identified by the commandant as Nathaniel Jackson, of Natchez, Miss., a dishonorably discharged soldier who was serving a sentence for assaulting a non-commissioned officer with a dangerous weapon.

The injured officer was Lt. Raymond Routt, of Richmond, Va.

Colonel Evers said he entered the cell block and attempted to quell the disturbance by talking to the prisoners. They refused to listen, he said, and attacked the guards, who were armed only with light clubs.

Three or four guards were mauled badly and weapons were brought into the prison, the colonel stated. In trying to reestablish order, Colonel Evers was struck over the eye with a club wielded by Jackson, the commandant related, adding that Jackson was shot by one of the guards.

Colonel Evers said the prisoners were subdued. He added that an investigation would be made.

Stalin Blames Two World Wars On Capitalistic World Economy

Predicts Soviet Scientists Will Surpass Those Abroad

By Tom Williams

LONDON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Generalissimo Stalin, declaring the last two wars resulted from the development of capitalistic world economy, tonight announced a new five-year plan for Soviet Russia and stupendous production goals "to guarantee our country against any eventuality."

He predicted, too, that Soviet scientists could "not only catch up with but surpass those abroad." He did not mention atomic research specifically.

Stalin said the new five-year plan—Russia's fourth including the one interrupted by German invasion in 1941—would be inaugurated soon, and "for the further future" set goals for steel, pig iron, coal and oil production close to the output of the United States.

In a pre-election speech broadcast by the Moscow radio, the Soviet chieftain promised that "soon rationing will end," and that the Russian worker's standard of living would be raised.

Declaring that the war was "the inevitable result of the development of the world economic and political forces on the basis of monopoly capitalism," Stalin asserted:

"Perhaps the catastrophe of war could have been avoided if the possibility of periodic redistribution of raw materials and markets between the countries existed in accordance with their economic needs, in the way of coordinated and peaceful decisions.

"But this is impossible under the present capitalistic development of world economy. Thus as a result of the first crisis in the development of the capitalistic world economy the First War arose. The Second World War arose as a result of the second crisis."

Stalin, making his first speech since last Sept. 2, spoke for 56 minutes on the eve of elections for the supreme Soviet. He spoke in the district where he is a candidate for re-election.

He called for an industrial output of 50,000,000 tons of pig iron a year, 60,000,000 tons of steel, 500,000,000

MURRAY THINKS STRIKES TO END

Says He's 'Optimistic' For Early Settlement Of Disputes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Philip Murray, president of the C. I. O., said today he is "optimistic" about prospects for early settlement of most current labor disputes.

He also told senators, before whom he was testifying on a proposed fact-finding bill, that any wage agreement in the steel strike will extend until Feb. 15, 1947.

This prompted a reporter later to ask whether he expects the steel strike to end by this Feb. 15, next Friday. Murray replied:

"You will have to make your own assumption but we've gotten that far in the negotiations."

Earlier Murray had testified that he had tentative approval from President Benjamin Fairless of U. S. Steel for a 19 1 2 cents hourly wage increase for the 750,000 steel workers when he ordered a week's postponement of the strike.

He said Fairless "changed his mind"

BOWLES ON TOP IN PRICE FIGHT

White House Denies Snyder To Lose Reconversion Post

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—OPA Administrator Chester Bowles appeared tonight to be on top, at least for the moment, in his fight for firm holding of a price line even though it be a line bent upwards to make room for wage increases.

This report on the internal wage-price controversy came from a responsible but unquotable official, as the White House gave out a denial that Reconversion Director John W. Snyder is to be replaced in his high post.

A White House spokesman also reported good progress was being made toward ending the 20-day strike of 750,000 C. I. O. United Steelworkers.

The statement on Snyder was in answer to published reports that the wage-price policy tangle would result in Bowles taking Snyder's job, with Federal Communications Commissioner Paul A. Porter replacing Bowles at OPA.

But a new report came quickly into circulation in the economic agencies: That Bowles might replace not Snyder but John C. Collet, stabilization ad-

MORE THAN 80 HURT IN DEMONSTRATION

CAIRO, Feb. 9.—(AP)—More than 80 persons were injured today in a battle between police and Egyptian students who shouted for revolt and "down with Britain" in a demonstration protesting Britain's attitude toward revision of the British-Egyptian treaty.

At least 50 students and 30 policemen were hurt, and 150 students were arrested before order was restored.

The demonstrators surged through Cairo streets after a mass meeting at Faud University. One bus was set afire.

A drawbridge across the Nile was raised to prevent the crowd from pushing to the heart of Cairo, and fighting broke out at the bridge with sticks and stones as weapons.

Cairo city was made out of bounds for British and American troops.

The 1936 British-Egyptian treaty provided for establishment of a military alliance between the two countries, and for maintenance of British troops in Egypt for 20 years. Egypt has asked for evacuation of all foreign troops and a revision of the status of the Sudan, now under joint British-Egyptian control.

Replying, Britain agreed to undertake revision of the treaty.

Speakers at the mass meeting, however, asserted it was impossible to negotiate with British Ambassador Lord Killearn, who was accused of being "imperialistic." Speakers also declared Egyptian foreign minister Abdel Hamid Badawin Pasha was a "British agent."

After the meeting, many of the crowd, estimated at 5,000 began marching, hoisting banners declaring "down with imperialism," "get out of the Nile valley," and "the question of the country is international."

The students smashed British army signs along the route.

WANTS BETTER WAY TO LAND AIRPLANE

BAKER, Ore., Feb. 9.—(AP)—"Isn't there a better way to land a plane than this?" inquired John a Burton, 82, as he hung upside down from his safety belt in a Stinson Voyager overturned in a stubble field.

"I'm not hurt," he added politely to the grandson who had just taken him for his first plane ride. "I just wondered."

Capt. Robert B. Alexander, Dallas, Tex., winner of the Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal, explained to his grandfather that the plane's hitting a snow drift was just an accident. Like the one Alexander had a week ago en route here, when his car rolled over twice.

GROUP TO WATCH FEDERAL FIRMS

Plans Tighter Hold On Purse Strings Of 41 U. S. Corporations

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The House appropriations committee reached out today for a tighter hold on the purse strings of 41 government corporations, including some of the biggest financial operators in the federal family.

It designated five of its members—Representatives Mahon, Democrat, Texas; Whitten, Democrat, Mississippi; Gore, Democrat, Tennessee; Ploeser, Republican, Missouri; and Jensen, Communist, Iowa—as a subcommittee to review annually all transactions and operations of the agencies. Mahon is chairman of the group.

Mahon told reporters the new subcommittee will "keep under close and constant congressional scrutiny the activities of government corporations."

Heretofore the corporations involved have obtained approval of Congress for administrative expenses generally appropriated out of their capital. Their justifications of these expenses have been made to scattered appropriations subcommittees, none of which had jurisdiction over all 41.

Last December Congress enacted a law requiring each corporation to prepare annually a "business-type budget" containing estimates of "the financial condition and operations of

PAYS BOUNTIES ON TOO MANY FOX FEET

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 9.—(AP)—The Caddo parish police jury counted the fox feet brought in for bounties, divided by four, and decided there were still too many foxes there to be plausible.

Sheriff Howell Flournoy investigated.

As a result five men were sentenced to jail terms after pleading guilty to buying fox pelts elsewhere in Louisiana and East Texas and bringing them to Shreveport for the $2.50 a head bounties.

OUACHITA RIVER RISES RAPIDLY

Friday Night's Rain Jumps Stage Up Nearly Two Feet

The Ouachita river, already out of its banks in several localities and past flood stage in the Monroe vicinity, threatens a winter and early spring flood as heavy rains fell over the Ouachita valley Friday night and throughout Saturday.

Already backwaters are flooding three stretches of road in this parish and families in the lowlands outside the West Monroe levee district are being advised to prepare to move. Many families along the Tony's bayou area outside the levee district south of the Brown Paper Mill have already been forced from their homes.

The river passed its flood stage of 40 feet several days ago and yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock stood at 44.4 feet, it was reported by government river observers.

After attaining a stage of 42.68 last Wednesday the river began falling slightly and stood at 42.6 Friday morning before the week-end rains started. Friday night's rain jumped the river here to 43.95 by 8 o'clock yesterday morning, and at the 4 p. m. reading yesterday it stood at 44.4

The week-end rains sent the backwaters from the Cheniere creek and Tony's bayou over the Jonesboro blacktopped highway between Brownville and Bawcomville, the White's

SUCCUMBS AFTER TAKING POISON

William Ward Canterberry, about 45, of Union parish, died in an ambulance en route to a hospital here yesterday a few minutes after he was said to have taken poison, Dr. J. T. French, Ouachita parish coroner, said last night.

Canterberry, whose address was given as Farmerville, route 1, was visiting here in the home of a sister, Mrs. E. C. Cobb, 1107 North Sixth street, when he took the poison, it was said. An ambulance was summoned, but the Union parish man was found to be dead when the ambulance arrived at Riverside Sanitarium.

Dr. French said he could not definitely say why the man had taken his own life. He said, however, that there was no doubt that Canterberry had taken the poison purposely, and that he had taken a "mighty big" dose.

Dr. French said Canterberry had a receipt in his pocket showing he had made an increase in his burial insurance with Kilpatrick Funeral Home at Farmerville only Friday.

The body was removed to Kilpatrick Funeral Home. Funeral arrangements had not been made known here last night.

HOME-BUILDING PLAN IS LAUDED

Blue-Print For 2,700,000 Units In Two Years Draws Praise

PROPOSALS FOR CONTROLS STIR UP SOME OPPOSITION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Blueprints for America's biggest home-building job—2,700,000 in two years—met wide acclaim today and a let's-get-going attitude in Congress and the construction industry.

With the program less than a day old, both Republicans and Democrats in Congress appeared solidly behind most of the plan. Some of them already were pitching into the legislative end, but the proposal for price ceilings on old homes and building lots was far from having universal support.

Messages offering warm praise and offers of cooperation poured in on Housing Administrator Wilson S. Wyatt, who drew up the plan, and on President Truman, who endorsed and announced it.

They came from housing, labor and farm organizations, from mayors, veterans, and individuals.

The program calls for building some $16,000,000,000 worth of new homes in the next two years, mostly by private firms. Most of the houses would sell for no more than $6,000 or rent for no more than $50 a month.

To accomplish it, Wyatt said there would be needed a tremendous expansion in the output of building materials, three times the labor force now working on home construction, and, in some cases, government subsidies for wages and prices.

Rep. Wolcott, Republican, Michigan, said he and Chairman Spence, Democrat, Kentucky, of the House banking committee met today and would meet again Monday to discuss the required legislation. Wyatt and some of his lawyers are expected to join the huddle Monday.

"We are not far apart now," Wolcott told a reporter. For the time being, he said, complicated sections on prices, subsidies and taxes may have to be left out. They could be considered later.

The banking committee already has approved an emergency housing bill and voted against putting ceilings on old dwellings.

Wolcott suggested this bill might be amended to meet most of the legislative needs listed for the new program.

Rep. Patman, Democrat, Texas, was readying amendment to cover at least part of the Wyatt plan.

Five Democrats, headed by House Majority Leader McCormack of Mas-

SAYS AMERICANS TO EAT BETTER

People In Many Lands In 1946 Will Be Near Starvation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The agriculture department took an inventory in the world's larder tonight and figured that Americans will eat more than ever before in 1946 while people in many lands will be "near starvation."

A survey of conditions in some 65 countries forecast 12 per cent less food for the average person in the 1945-46 season than in pre-war years.

But few people will be average. The department drew this picture of contrasts:

United States—"Total food supplies • • • continue at record levels. • • • Civilian food consumption per capita in the United States in 1946 is expected to exceed that of any previous year, barring unusually poor crops."

Elsewhere—"Rations in several countries are near starvation levels." The department said Italy, Germany, French North Africa, France, Spain, India and China apparently are the

SHREVEPORT MAN IS CRITICALLY SHOT

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Leslie A. Cowley, 32, president of the Louisiana Cattlemen's Association and manager of the livestock department of a local bank, who was shot late Friday night in a hotel bar here, was reported in a critical condition by local hospital authorities today.

Captain of Detectives E. G. Huckabay said that Henry C. Pullen, 63, a collector, was being held in city jail pending outcome of Cowley's wounds.

Pullen, according to the detective captain, shot Cowley in resentment against a too familiar greeting when he entered the hotel bar.

The bullet passed entirely through Cowely's left side and dropped to the floor at his feet. His upper intestines were reported punctured in several places.

Captain Huckabay said no charges had yet been filed against Pullen, who was arrested a short time after the shooting which occurred about 11:30 p. m. Friday.

STEEL AGREEMENT ALMOST REACHED

Government Officials Report Two Sides 'Not Far Apart'

(By Associated Press)

With striking C. I. O. steelworkers and the U. S. Steel Corporation reported "not very far apart," government officials renewed efforts yesterday to bring quick settlement of the biggest barrier blocking reconversion.

A White House official said President Truman was "quite hopeful" that the strike would end soon and White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told his news conference yesterday good progress was being made.

C. I. O. President Philip Murray reported the two sides were in substantial agreement.

Expressing optimism over chances of early settlement, Murray said any wage agreement in the steel strike would run until February 15, 1947.

Asked whether this meant he expected the steel strike to end by next Friday, February 15, he said "you will have to make your own assumption but we've gotten that far in the negotiations."

The question of now retroactive to make a pay increase was reported as the only remaining stumbling block to settlement of the 20-day strike of 750,000 steelworkers, which has made more than 100,000 others idle in Allied industries and threatened hundreds of factories across the nation with early shutdowns.

Murray, meanwhile, told a Senate labor committee that Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, tentatively agreed to a 19 1 2 cents hourly wage boost for striking steelworkers on January 11 but "changed his mind" a few days later. The C. I. O. head's remarks came during testimony in opposition to fact-finding legislation.

(Fairless, commenting on remarks attributed to Murray, said in a statement in New York January 18 that "it is a base falsehood that I ever stated to Mr. Murray that I regarded his demand for a wage increase of 19 1 2 cents meritorious or that I would recommend favorable to the steel industry the acceptance of such a wage increase.")

Settlement of this one dispute alone would trim the figure of 1,460,000 strike idle in the nation to around 600,000.

However, the new wage-price policy the government is drafting for early promulgation is aimed at settling other major strikes although President Truman told his news conference Thursday he expected it in a day or two, Ross said he did not know whether it would be announced this week-end.

There was not complete agreement among Washington officials on whether an end of the steel strike must await announcement of the new wage-price policy. While some officials expressed the hope the steel question could be disposed of first, one adviser expressed doubt this could be accomplished.

Meanwhile, most New Yorkers faced a cold, miserable week-end as a strike of 3,500 A. F. of L. tugboat workers left oil supplies in the metropolis at

LOUISIANA BRIDE CARNIVAL QUEEN

HANOVER, N. H., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Mrs. Russell Chase, Jr., 21-year-old Louisiana bride who came north with her air corps pilot husband while he finished his college education, was chosen today as queen of the 36th annual Dartmouth winter carnival.

The former Fay E. Phennel of Shreveport, La., was married last April to Lt. Russell Chase, Jr., of Holyoke, Mass., was the first married woman ever chosen queen at this oldest of Collegiate winter spectacle.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Phennel of Shreveport, the "queen of the snows" is an attractive brunette, five feet, four, and weighing 118. She was the unanimous choice of the judges No. 8 in a field of 26 girls who were selected as they walked through the gate to witness the ski jumping competition this afternoon on the golf course.

The "queen" wore a red ski jacket, dark blue ski pants and no hat. John Sloan Dickey, new Dartmouth president, presented her with a huge cup as her smiling husband, a senior at Dartmouth, looked on.

Mrs. Chase, who attended the University of Louisiana, met her husband at Barksdale Field. She formerly was a telephone supervisor in Shreveport, and while living in Hanover, is serving as part-time operator in the nearby White River Junction, Vt., telephone exchange. She sat on a throne of ice for nearly an hour shortly after her selection as queen posing for a battery of photographers.

She said she and her husband had not yet decided where they would make their home after he completes his studies. Chase is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Chase, Sr., of Holyoke.

Backers Of Proposal Declare They'll Try Again Periodically

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Filibustering southerners won their fight against the bill for a permanent fair employment practices commission today and the Senate laid it aside for other business. Backers of the measure said they will try again periodically.

It would take a majority vote of the chamber to get the FEPC measure back on the floor, where it has been since January 17.

The decision came on a Senate roll call, 48 for and 26 against a motion to limit debate on the bill to set up a regular agency to police industry and government against discrimination on account of race or creed.

This was six votes short of the two-thirds required to invoke cloture and thus insure a final vote. Under cloture each senator is limited to an hour's talk, but the rule is seldom invoked.

As soon as veteran Senator McKellar (D.-Tenn.), regular presiding officer and an FEPC opponent, announced the cloture attempt had failed, Senator Chavez (D.-N. M.), jumped up and moved to take up an appropriation bill.

"It took the crucifixion of Christ to redeem the world," Chavez, floor leader for the FEPC bill, said with emotion. "I'm satisfied with the vote. This is only a start, believe me."

Majority Leader Barkley (D.-Ky.) arose to say he regretted the outcome but the Senate must turn to other matters because he had not the "slightest hope we can ever reach a final vote on this."

Barkley joined Chavez in asking that the Senate put aside the controversial measure to take up an appropriations bill.

Senator Magnuson (D.-Wash) wanted to know what would then happen to the FEPC bill. He was told it would go back on the Senate calendar.

Senator Mead (D.-N. Y.), ardent FEPC supporter, demanded a roll call on this. With obvious relief 71 senators voted to put the measure aside with only 12 opposing.

Hundreds had packed every inch of space in the galleries before 4 o'clock, the agreed hour for the test. Scores of house members lined the rear walls of the chamber.

The crowd was treated to a last hour spurge of oratory before the vote.

Senator Millikin (D.-Colo.), one of the Republicans who teamed up with southern Democrats against the measure, made a full-dress attack upon it.

"How much blood must be spilled, how much hatred and discrimination must be accentuated, how much ugly human history must be endured and repeated before we learn law can and should not coerce conformity of human thinking?" asked the soft-voiced Colorado senator.

Senator Russell (D.-Ga.), who served as leader of the opponents through 18 consecutive sessions, referred to Millikin's speech as "historic" and ranking with the "intellectual giants" of the Senate's past history.

The tall Georgian said that the Senate was the "last citadel of human rights" and protested that senators must oppose "delegations coming down here to blackmail senators" and

AMVET AUXILIARY TO BE ORGANIZED

Wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of World War II veterans can materially strengthen Walter S. Savage, Jr., Post, American Veterans of World War II, in its efforts in behalf of ex-service men and women by banding themselves together in the auxiliary the post plans organizing at its meeting Monday night, George Fink, commander, declared in urging a large attendance of eligible women.

The meeting will be held in the courtroom on the second floor of the Ouachita Parish Courthouse. It is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

Not only are wives, mothers, daughters and sisters of members of the post eligible for membership, Mr. Fink said, but the wives, mothers, daughters and sisters of all veterans who served in World War II and of members of the armed forces who gave up their lives during the conflict, as well.

HARPER WILL TRY STATE COURT CASES

Trials and hearings in the state criminal section of Municipal court will be held each Thursday at 2 p. m. in the third floor courtroom of the Ouachita parish court house, it was announced yesterday by Judge W. M. Harper. Only criminal misdemeanors on state charges are heard in this section, Judge Harper said.

Transfer of the trials to the court house from the courtroom in the city hall will facilitate hearings for persons held in the parish jail, Judge Harper said, particularly aiding those who cannot make bond. It also will be more convenient for the district attorney and the sheriff, Judge Harper said, because it will be unnecessary to take prisoners from the court house to the city hall.

BOY SCOUT WEEK IS NOW BEING OBSERVED WIDELY

36th Anniversary Is Stressing 'Scouts Of World—Build Together'

Nearly two million Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Senior Scouts, and their adult leaders throughout the United States will commemorate Boy Scout Week, which began Friday, February 8, and continues through Thursday, February 14. The theme of the observance, which marks the 36th anniversary of the founding of the movement in America, is "Scouts of the World—Building Together."

The Boy Scouts of America have created a "World Friendship Fund" and nearly two million members have been invited and urged to contribute voluntarily to it. Through the fund, Scout associations in lands ravaged during World War II are being helped to rebuild their organizations. At the outbreak of the war in 1939 there were more than three million Scouts and leaders in 70 different lands.

Many Boy Scout troops, Cub packs, and Senior Scout units will mark Boy Scout Week by contributing to the fund through local Boy Scout councils. The national executive board of the movement authorized the World Friendship Fund, believing it can make a definite contribution to the post-war world, since boys dedicated to the Scout ideals of tolerance, friendliness, and democracy, may be the leaders of the world of tomorrow.

Many troops have contributed from the money earned by salvaging waste paper, while others have given the proceeds of special Scout entertainments. To make certain the greatest good is done with each dollar spent, the Boy Scouts of America secures the advice of the International Scout Bureau in London and has arranged with agencies of the federal government at Washington to see that the Scout organizations actually get the help in the manner intended. The fund will continue as long as Scouting overseas needs aid for rebuilding.

The Boy Scouts of the Philippines, for many years a part of the Boy Scouts of America, and now an independent association, has received a shipment of Scout supplies and $12,500. Ten thousand dollars of the fund, earmarked for the Philippines, forms a memorial to the late General Theodore Roosevelt, a vice-president of the Boy Scouts of America at the time of his death in Normandy, who took a deep personal interest in the progress of Philippine Scouting while governor general of the islands.

Thirty-seven shipments, mostly Scout literature, have been sent to 20 countries. The fund is making possible an international edition of Lord Baden Powell's original "Aids to Scoutmastership," an edition of value in every country. Much pictorial literature of the Boy Scouts of America is being made available, since little translation is needed. Since the printing of Scout manuals and other literature in foreign languages brings many problems, the fund will arrange for photo-offset printing of copies of material sent from abroad.

A feature of the Boy Scout Week celebration is the "Shirts-Off-Our-Backs" campaign. Boy Scouts are out to collect from 500 to 1,000 tons of used but clean and serviceable Scout uniform parts and camping equipment to help Scouts overseas resume their Scouting activities. The collection is not considered charity but rather sharing by one Scout with another.

A special effort is being made during Boy Scout Week, and the rest of February, to call on former members for Scout uniforms and accessories no longer needed. Each Scout donor has been asked to include his name and address on the equipment. Friendships that may be formed, it is felt, will contribute to the world-wide understanding.

The Scouts are seeking Boy Scout and Cub Scout shirts (without badges), hats and caps, shorts, neckerchiefs and slides, lanyards, belts, stockings and shoes. Scout equipment being collected for shipment overseas includes axes, knives, mess kits, duffel bags, haversacks, sleeping bags, tents, compasses, bugles, fire-making sets, first-aid kits, signaling flags, whistles, and Scout literature.

Items contributed in the eastern half of the United States will be shipped to countries of Europe while material collected in the western half will go to the Philippines and China. The World Friendship Fund will defray all shipping costs.

Boy Scout Week will be observed in every city and town and in nearly every village and hamlet in the nation. Since February 8, 1910, when the Boy Scouts of America was incorporated at Washington, D. C., more than 12,500,000 men and boys have been in Scouting. The active membership today is more than 1,950,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Senior Scouts and adult volunteer leaders.

Hundreds of former members will gather at troop reunions, which this year, in many cases means returned Scout leaders and Senior Scouts mustered out of the armed forces. It is estimated that one-quarter of the men in the armed forces were once Boy Scouts.

There will be District Pot Luck Dinners, and Scout Rallies, bringing together many Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and their parents. In this way parents get to know more about the Scouting programs, the boys with whom their sons work and play, and the high type of volunteer leaders that are attracted to the movement.

Boy Scout Sunday, February 10, will see hundreds of thousands of uniformed Boy Scouts attending large city cathedrals or small village churches with their troops or Scouts of their own faith. Those of Jewish faith held their observance in synagogues and temples Friday evening, February 8, and Saturday, February 9. Many sermons, addressed to the Scouts, were based on the World Brotherhood theme of the anniversary.

FINE ARTS CLUB TO ENTERTAIN

Duo Piano Recital Is Scheduled; Guest Night To Be Held

An unusual treat is in store for music lovers Monday at 8 p. m. when the Fine Arts Club will meet in the Daddy Flower Memorial chapel of the Louisiana Baptist Children's Home. It will be guest night and every member is asked to bring at least two guests to enjoy an unusual program.

This program is to be under the chairmanship of Mrs. Alta Faircloth, who with Richmond Y. Hathorn, professor of Latin and Greek at Louisiana College, will give a duo-piano recital.

They will play Rachmaninoff Suite No. 2 for two pianos. Preceding their playing, Mrs. Marion F. Dunwody, professor of piano at Louisiana College, will give a talk on modern composers and also an interesting sketch of the Rachmaninoff Suite No. 2.

It is expected that this program will prove the most outstanding one to be given this year by the Fine Arts club.

Following the program the group will adjourn to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Inabnet where a social hour will be enjoyed.

"I DON'T WANT A PENNY If I Can't Relieve Your RHEUMATIC - ARTHRITIC PAINS"
says Paul Case

That's how I run my business. If I don't help you, I don't want a penny of your money. But I believe I can help you.

My Combination Method has brought blessed relief to thousands who were suffering the tortures of rheumatism, arthritis, neuritis, sciatic pains. The chances are that I can bring you the same glorious relief. If I can't I don't want a penny from you.

Formula 1 is for the palliative relief of pain and contains a standard ingredient widely prescribed by most physicians for this purpose. This ingredient, together with 3 others are quickly absorbed into the blood stream and relieves pain, no matter where it may be—in joints, muscles, nerve sheaths.

Formula 2 contains standard ingredients for the relief of excess stomach acidity and to help keep your bowels open—a valuable extra help.

If you are suffering from those aches and pains, usually associated with rheumatism, arthritis, neuritis, neuralgia, sciatica, I urge you to clip and mail the coupon today—right now!

You need not send money—just as soon as I receive your order, I'll ship it parcel post. When the postman delivers the package containing both formulae, pay him $2.00 plus postage and C.O.D. charges. If you send check or money order, with the order I'll pay all postage charges.

Remember, If you aren't helped within 10 days after taking my medicines, according to directions on the package, I'll refund every penny you paid. Clip the coupon now.

SCOUTING TO BE GIVEN EMPHASIS

Varied Programs Will Stress Importance Of Work Among Girls

This week's calendar of activities in the Twin Cities will be highlighted by varied programs emphasizing the Girl Scout leadership drive which opens officially Monday, February 11 and extends through February 22.

Numerous persons who are vitally interested in the Scouting movement will speak before men's and women's organizations and from both local radio stations. Girl Scout picture shows will give added features to the week's schedule, and members of the Brownie and Girl Scout troops will be in uniform at church services today when they will be given special recognition. Announcement of this varied program is made by Mrs. Rodney Cline, chairman of the leadership drive.

The series of radio talks will open February 11 when a West Monroe Brownie troop, under leadership of Mrs. J. W. Watts, presents a playlet, written and produced by this group of girls, over KNOE at 9:45 a. m. Broadcasting from KMLB on February 11 at 4:15 p. m., will be Mrs. E. B. Whitten, president of the Girl Scout Leaders' Club.

Through facilities of KNOE, Mayor H. H. Benoit will speak February 12 at 10:35 a. m., and Rev. A. M. Serex will be heard at the same time on February 14. Miss Myrtle Rodgers, deputy Girl Scout commissioner of the Ouachita Parish Girl Scouts, will talk at 4:45 p. m., February 14. Speaking from KMLB February 15, will be Mrs. William Rodriguez.

Radio speakers for the following week include Mayor D. C. Golson, Rev. J. C. Marsh, Rabbi F. K. Hirsch, Mrs. Mildred Swift and Miss Alice Stanford. The schedule of their talks will be announced soon, according to Mrs. Scott Hamilton, chairman of the committee in charge of radio, poster and pamphlet publicity for the leadership drive.

Presenting the need for additional leaders in the Girl Scout program of the Twin Cities to various organizations are the following who have spoken or are planning to speak before these groups: Mrs. Mildred Swift, Miss Bess Sharp, Mrs. Tom Davis, Mrs. Rodney Cline, Mrs. C. K. Crandall, Miss Myrtle Rodgers, Mrs. Pete Rowe, Mrs. A. R. Holloway, Mrs. William Rodriguez, and Miss Jo Ann Biedenharn. The committee arranging this phase of the Scouting program were Mrs. Rosalind L. Strauss, chairman; Mrs. Wesley S. Shafto and John S. Fox.

Scout movies to which the public is invited will be shown February 13 at 1:35 p. m. in room 200 of the Northeast Junior College library building. The show also is scheduled at Georgia Tucker Grade School on February 13 and 14 at 4 p. m. The movie will be one of the main features at a meeting of the Girl Scout Leaders' Club at this school on February 14 at 2 p. m.

Assisting Mrs. Cline in the leadership drive are Mrs. W. R. Comer and the following committees, in addition to Mrs. Hamilton's publicity committee: Gardner Young and John S. Fox, service clubs; Mrs. Pete Rowe and Mrs. Mildred Swift, window displays; Mrs. Alan Sugar, Mrs. Sam Smith and Mrs. E. B. Whitten, staffing information booths in stores; Miss Myrtle Rodgers, schools; Mrs. Robert Hair, refreshments for Girl Scout party on February 22; Mrs. H. B. Cruthirds and Miss Alice Stanford, interviewing Girl Scout assistants.

Socialized Individuals

If Herbert Morrison can be credited with speaking for the British Labor party, of which he is a leader, then it may be said that the present government in London is alert to the dangers inherent in its program of socialization.

Mr. Morrison recently outlined to parliament a general scheme of educational reform in primary and secondary schools which would put more emphasis on individuality and lessen implicit belief in what the teacher tells the pupil.

"The more we socialize industry—and we are going to socialize a lot—the more determined we must be to produce individuals," he said. "We'll need individuality more than ever. . . . Britain, however far her industry may go on a collective basis . . . shall nevertheless be a nation of individuals, of pioneers who are showing that British character is as strong, powerful and individual as ever it was in the past."

That, of course, is a frank admission of the evident fact that collectivism is and has been the foes of individualism elsewhere. In Italy and Germany and Russia, government control of industry has been accompanied by government control of thought and speech and action.

The latter may not be inherent in the former. But it has happened to work out that after the leaders of collectivist governments in those countries had sold their programs as the ideal and most beneficial way of life, they used the most violent means to squelch any suggestion by their citizens that things were not precisely as advertised.

Mr. Morrison's party knows, of course, that such methods would not work in England. And so, while Mr. Morrison may sound as if he were about to create or recreate individual freedom, he is only going on record as guaranteeing its preservation.

It cannot be said that the British people are sheep. The exaggerated social and economic division between upper and lower classes has not stopped the voice or quelled the spirit of Britons within their particular sphere. It was a free, independent, thinking majority that voted last summer for a government which it hoped would narrow that class division.

Mr. Morrison told parliament, "I have notices put up in every classroom saying, 'The teacher may be wrong. Think for yourself.'" That freedom applies to the children of anti-Labor families. And it gives implied assurance that their parents may also think for themselves and say, "The government may be wrong."

So it appears that socialized government and individual liberty may work as well together as domestic socialism and a conservative foreign policy seem to have worked in Britain to date. Americans as well as Britons may hope that it does, even though recent experience offers few other examples of success.

THE NEW AGE DAWNS

Record-breaking flights follow so closely upon one another that when a new one takes place it is taken pretty much for granted. No one longer questions that air travel is here to stay—and in a big way. Everybody concedes that the plane is the annihilator of distance. So people read the headlines, and perhaps a few paragraphs of the newspaper accounts, and pass on to other things.

Nevertheless, when two four-engined Constellations break both the transcontinental and transatlantic records for transport planes on two successive days, their exploits demand attention. It is significant when one of them carries 52 persons from Burbank, Calif., to New York City in 7 hours 27 minutes and when, the very next day, another whisks 40 persons across the ocean from New York City to Hurn, England, in 12 hours 5 minutes.

If commercial planes now in service can cross the continent in less than eight hours and make the water hop to Britain in a shade over 12, then the day of high speed transportation by air does not have to wait for the further development of the jet plane. That development is on the way, and when it arrives passenger aircraft will move at an even dizzier pace, but already distance has lost most of its former meaning.

More Constellations are coming. They are to be used for just such flights as this, over water as well as over land. Very shortly all the old records for commercial transports will be falling into the waste basket. The new age, whatever it may bring, is here now.

THE KINGS DEPART

Whatever the map of Europe may look like when the peace treaties formally ending World War II have been signed and ratified, it is now certain that there will be fewer monarchies on the continent's roll of nations that there were before the war.

Two former Balkan kingdoms have been formally proclaimed republics by their governments. One of them, Hungary, had been kingless during all the years between two great conflicts, but the throne was there even if the royal functions were exercised by Admiral Horthy. Yugoslavia, the other, was also under a regency at the time of the German attack on Poland, but she had a new crowned head in the former King Peter, though he never returned to Belgrade, before the fighting was over.

So both countries were indubitably monarchies. Just as indubitably they are monarchies no longer. There may be some ground for dispute as to what they are today.

Probably Hungary can be given the benefit of the doubt and credited with being a republic—at least her provisional government held free elections that resulted in a victory for the moderates. But Yugoslavia is a virtual dictatorship under Marshal Tito, who was confirmed in the power he won on the battlefield by an electoral process clearly designed to achieve exactly that result.

But something has been gained though the regimes now in power fall short of achieving the Republican ideal. At least the complicating factor represented by dynasties struggling to keep their hold has been removed in two more countries.

Harpo Marx has taken his 9-year-old son, Billy, an asthma sufferer—to New Mexico where the boy will attend an outdoor school . . . Dianna Lynn has transferred her affections from Loren Tindel to artist-designer Don Johnson . . . Doctors have advised Walter Pidgeon to give up smoking.

Myrna Loy has been advised there may be a silver cache on her Montana ranch; geologists are prospecting there right now . . . Warner Brothers are seeking permission from the Rajah of Sarawak to film an original story written by Errol Flynn about that fabulous ruler . . . Bing Crosby's biography will be released early next month; it's highlighted by a Bob Hope introduction . . . Joe Louis, heavyweight champ, is backing an all-colored musical revue headed by Clarence Muse. Louis will also appear, if fight engagements permit . . . Frank Sinatra is in the market for two army training planes, to be used for business and pleasure.

Buddy Rogers is negotiating with Notre Dame regarding a picture to be titled "The Fighting Irish" . . . Jennifer Jones gets the break every actress pines for—she'll be starred in "Joan of Arc" . . . The Navy is calling men back into the service, they're needed for those atom bomb experiments.

PREVIEW NIGHTS: Pic of a slim week: MGM's "The Postman Always Rings Twice" (Lana Turner-John Garfield-Hume Cronyn). Hot stuff that will bring a storm of protest from religious and civic groups. Definitely NOT for children . . . RECOMMENDED: MGM's "Bad Bascomb" (Margaret O'Brien-Wallace Beery-Marjorie Main). Beery plus Margaret plus some Indians equals good fun for the family . . . MGM's "The Hoodlum Saint" (William Powell-Esther Williams-Angela Lansbury). An unbelievable story made believable by top-flight performances . . . GOOD: Universal "Idea Girl" (Jess Barker-Julie Bishop-Alan Mowbray). A laugh-maker, which is always a good idea. . . . DISAPPOINTING: Columbia's "Frontier Gunlaw" (Charles Starrett). Old time frontier justice would have prevented the making of this one . . . The Navy's "Report From Tokyo—1946" may belong in government archives, but not in theatres . . . BEST PERFORMANCE: Margaret O'Brien in "Bad Bascomb" a talented child star twinkles brightly.

Bob Hope's decision to switch his weekly radio show from military hospitals to college campuses may be smart business, but it seems to me it's a bad move. College students will hate me for my criticism and I appreciate their point of view. Still, these shows could do a great deal of good if they continued to emanate from military hospitals. It doesn't matter that Bob has already played to most, or even all, of the hospitals. He has a new show every week and could afford to reappear at the same hospitals several times a year. Certainly he could hardly find a more enthusiastic or appreciative audience.

It is rumored that the film "Ecstasy," which brought Hedy Lamarr fame (or notoriety!) will be re-made with Maria Montez. Miss Lamarr claims that the famous bathing scene, in which she appeared in the altogether, was taken without her permission. Maria had better be careful that no such liberties are taken in her case, since American audiences are not as tolerent as the Europeans. She might protect herself by always staying out of camera range when she bathes.

Kathryn Grayson and John Shelton have announced plans to adopt a baby, in the hope of achieving marital happiness. Adopting a baby is a fine thing and has brought lasting happiness to many homes. But Miss Grayson and Shelton are doing things backwards. Their marriage has been very much on-again-off-again, and it would be more intelligent to stabilize their home before risking a baby's future. To take a child into a home that is constantly on verge of breaking up is a responsibility they should weigh carefully.

The real reason behind the Hedy Lamarr-John Loder split is that Hedy promised to star her husband in her own production of "Strange Woman," but gave the part to Louis Hayward instead. Well, this isn't the first time a Hollywood husband was voted the wrong type.

BY HENRY McLEMORE

At hand is a letter from a young man in San Francisco wanting to know how I became a newspaper columnist, and asking advice as to how he can take the same fatal step.

My advice to him is that he take up lion taming, or the management of a growing, going incinerator plant, or borrow a brace of horse pistols and go in for the stick-up racket. He'll find these occupations, and half a hundred more that I could name, a much easier way to make a living.

But if he wants to follow in my footsteps—and, to date, only F. B. I. men have selected to do so—let him go to New York, dead broke, and become a sandwich cutter. That was my first step toward a newspaper column—cutting sandwiches in the B & G chain of sandwich shops.

I applied and got the job at the B & G establishment just across from the McAlpin Hotel. I had to tell a few lies. An experienced sandwich man was wanted, so I told the manager that I had owned and operated the Y Boy Jacket Shop, just across the Georgia Tech campus in Atlanta, for years. That was at 11 in the morning. At 11:30 I had been assigned a "block" and was surrounded by ham, beef, mayonnaise, pickles, peanut butter, jelly, and a half a dozen of the biggest sharpest knives since Bluebeard's time.

On top of the glass partition behind which I stood, there was a groove. The waitresses would write down the order on a stiff bit of pasteboard and stick it in the groove so that the sandwich cutter could read the order. Each cutter was supposed to be swift enough to keep two waitresses working.

The first sandwich I served was pumpernickel on rye, with just a dash of pickle. The second was supposed to be a peanut butter and jelly. The customer got not only that, but also a slice of cutter's finger. When I got home the first night, my hands looked as if they had been put through a mangler. So, I cut off the last two legs of a pair of flannel pajama pants, made myself a bandage, and soaked it with iodine and various other lotions.

Came the next day. The rush hour was at its rushing-est. I looked down and missed my bandage. "Dear Lord!" I said, "Please don't let me have served that two yards of iodine-soaked flannel." I sweated it out. Every time a waitress appeared, I expected her to say that no one had ordered a bandage sandwich, and have her call the manager.

But, glory and glory, when the rush hour was over and I was cleaning my toaster, knives and the like, I found the bandage resting comfortably in the bottom of the big wooden bowl that held the mayonnaise. Lana Turner will never look as pretty to me as did that yard or so of pajama leg, curled up in the bottom of that bowl.

Having licked the sandwich cutting business—I trust the young man from San Francisco is still reading—I took up elevator operating. I got a job in a fashionable Madison Avenue hotel, and the little monkey suit that went with the job. It was an old-fashioned elevator, which was operated by means of a giant brass lever. I made one flight in that monstrous thing. I took off with a visiting Russian noblewoman of advanced age, at 4 in the afternoon. She wanted to get off at the seventh floor. At 4:32, I had passed the seventh floor a good dozen times, alternately shooting to the top of the building and dropping to the basement. If you ever saw a White Russian, it was that dear dame as we soared and plummeted from roof to cellar. I finally managed to stop the confounded car some four feet shy of her floor, and boosted her to safety.

She had called the manager by the time I had worked my way down to the lobby floor. He gave me the air medal and fired me.

Then I took up the newspaper business.

That answer your question, San Francisco?

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Sunday School Lesson For Feb. 17
Scripture: Deutronomy 1-4, Especially 1:1, 32-40

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

"Ask me now of the days that are past," says our lesson; not that the people should live in the past, but that out of its heritage of God's providence and God's guidance they might find strength, guidance and inspiration for present living.

That heritage for the Jewish people, then in the wilderness, was rich in possessions, if it was marked also by periods of tragedy and suffering. The people might take heart from Abraham's faith, and the courage that sustained him in his own long journey from Ur to Canaan; though tragedy fell upon them in Egypt, the memory of Joseph, a leader above reproach, might well have sustained and encouraged them in dark and trying days. Even in the wilderness they had a goodly heritage.

But what about ourselves? What values do we see in studying the Scriptures and life of an ancient people unless it gives us guidance and wisdom for today. What heritage have we to which we must be true?

The comment in these columns is read by readers on both sides of the border, in Canada and in the United States, but the peoples on both sides of the border have a common heritage that goes back deep into the history of England, "the mother of parliaments" to the signing of Magna Charta, the struggle for civil liberties and the establishing of the principle "no taxation without representation."

We have a rich heritage in the common law of England, and in the spirit of democracy.

English-speaking peoples have a mighty heritage of language, enriched from many sources. But our heritage, thank God, is not limited to any one land or people. In the United States, and increasingly in Canada, our common life has been vastly enriched by what those from many lands, and of many races, have brought to us. It is only the ignorant and those of perverted minds and hearts who refuse to recognize the depth and quality of this heritage from the foreign-born and their descendants.

Many of the immigrants who have come to our shores have brought with them the skills and cultures that were well developed in their homelands before this America was discovered. Think for instance of our heritage from the Jews, against whom misguided and undemocratic agitators seek to stir up prejudice. From them came the Bible, the Prophets, Christ, and the Apostles. From them came that lofty idealism, which Jesus said He had come, not to destroy, but to fulfil.

BIBLE THOUGHTS

Where is the wise? where is the scribe? where is the disrupter of this world? hath not God made foolish the wisdom of this world?—Corinthians 1:20.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Big objective of new Housing Expeditor Wilson W. Wyatt, Jr., is to "build as many houses as possible, as fast as possible, to rent for as low a price as possible."

"It isn't going to be done," he says, "by business as usual, building as usual, or labor as usual.

"What is not generally appreciated," Wyatt declared on his first appearance before the House Banking Committee, which is considering new housing legislation, "is that this housing shortage did not come up overnight."

Today's housing shortage began back in the 20's, when more new families came into being than new houses to shelter them, Wyatt points out. In 1925 and '26, building prices reached their peak. They got so high people practically stopped building houses.

"There can be a recurrence of that situation," says Wyatt, "so people shouldn't be frightened out of housing today."

All through the depression 1930's, with from eight to ten million people unemployed, there was little new housing built. Over a million families lived doubled-up with relatives.

In 1940 there were a million marriages, but only 709,000 new housing units. The 300,000 unit shortage was typical of the past 20-year period.

In five years of war, during which the population increased eight million, little new permanent housing was built. People had the money to pay for it, but the materials weren't available. So they continued to live doubled-up or in government-built temporary housing.

Shortage of 2,500,000 Foreseen In '46

Today five million discharged veterans have been piled in, and by the end of 1946 it will be ten million. Housing authorities estimate a minimum shortage of two and a half million houses by the end of 1946, three million by the end of 1947, then 600,000 more every year after that.

It is to clean up this mess that Expediter Wyatt is bringing forth his new program to get housing construction started again. He will have four major approaches.

First will be to get materials flowing so that a house won't have to be stopped once it's started. Increased production of substitutes and new materials will be encouraged. Mass production techniques learned during the war will have to be used.

Second will be the labor problem. There is no shortage of construction workers today. But as materials begin to flow, there will be a labor shortage. Apprentice training will have to begin immediately.

Transportation Is Big Problem

Third, every available bit of shelter will have to be used. Temporary war housing will have to be used. Where remote from urban centers, transportation lines will have to be extended to them.

Fourth, every community will have to work out a local program of its own. Building codes, which are wild but sacred cows, will have to be broken where they interfere. Home sharing will have to be continued and encouraged. Veterans should be given first call on any vacancies.

More rental housing will have to be built. More materials will have to be channeled into low-rent housing projects.

Housing priority, subsidy and price control problems are particularly ticklish. Authority for these controls will expire June 30 and will have to be continued if the housing job is to be done in an orderly manner.

All these emergency measures tie-in says Wyatt, and they have to be balanced in relation to each other. It is a two-year job at the least. It will cost money.

GI'S PROBLEMS ARE PRESENTED

Veterans' Claims Are Presented To Service Officer

The universal problems of housing, scarcity of jobs, buying surplus government property, overdue checks from the federal government, compensation that has been cut off, late subsistence allowances, burial allowances with pension for widows and children, even a shortage of civilian toggery—all of these are multiple problems that are brought many times daily to the parish service officers of Louisiana by legions of veterans.

"An office has been established or is in the process of being established in all of our parishes at this time," Director Joe Darwin said.

"During the month of January, 24,693 office contacts were made with veterans and field contacts numbered 1,392, with 2,035 power of attorney grants to act for the veteran given, in processing his claim," the director of the Department of Veterans' affairs revealed.

More than 8,294 applications for miscellaneous benefits were received, among which were catalogued educational benefits, 242 applied for service connected disability, 41 for non-service connected disability, 82 appeals from the decision of the rating board of the Veterans Administration were made, and 241 claims for hospitalization and domiciliary care were made.

Widows and children of veterans made 76 applications for compensation, dependent parents for 62 claims for compensation, and 67 claims for insurance were filed.

"In the division of claims, Department of Veterans' Affairs, New Orleans, 640 veterans' files were reviewed in the office of the Veterans Administration, and 1,872 appearances before the rating board there were made last month to obtain benefits for our own local veterans," Darwin said.

THE NATION TODAY
By James Marlow

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The Case bill—to curb strikes and some union activities during strikes—was passed in a rush by the House.

The bill has been praised and attacked inside and outside Congress. But perhaps the strangest attack came from Rep. Clare E. Hoffman, Michigan Republican.

He attacked the bill for something which he himself put into the bill.

As it stands, the bill has portions which do not read grammatically. And some of its sponsors can't say precisely what interpretation may be placed on certain sections.

Because they are not explicitly stated, some of the bill's implications can be very far-reaching and very tough on labor.

The Senate is certain to change the bill, if it ever considers it at all, because of the lack of preciseness in some of its language.

The bill, although it is major legislation, did not receive the treatment which other major legislation gets.

Most important bills first go through a committee where they are examined carefully and witnesses can testify on their faults or virtues.

This one was shoved out on the House floor and, in rapid-fire debate, was patched and changed.

As finally passed, the bill was not exactly the bill originally introduced by Rep. Francis Case, South Dakota Republican.

The bill would do a number of things, such as: Forbidding strikes for 30 days while the government sought to settle a dispute; imposing penalties for strike violence; imposing penalties for boycotts.

The bill, as offered by Case, would inflict this penalty on a worker who committed strike violence: It would deprive him of his right under the National Labor Relations Act.

Congressmen who fought the bill before its passage, said this penalty meant: The worker was barred forever from joining a union or being represented by a union.

They said it would mean "forever" because the language of the bill set no time limit. But that penalty stayed in the bill, unchanged, from start to finish: The penalty for violence.

Case introduced the bill February 4 on February 5 Representative Hoffman got the House to accept an amendment which he offered. This amendment would inflict on a worker who engaged in a boycott the same penalty imposed for violence.

The wording of his amendment—as to the penalty for boycotting—was exactly the same wording as case used in the penalty for violence.

But on February 7, when the House voted and passed the bill, Hoffman voted against it.

He denounced those two identical penalties: One the work of Hoffman, the other the work of Case.

He didn't call attention to the fact that he had put in the penalty which he was denouncing.

He said that, just before voting time, in reading over the bill as amended, he realized "the severity of the penalty."

He said he did not feel justified in "voting for a measure which would deprive the laboring man of one of his most cherished rights—the right to bargain collectively with his employer."

JUDGE KENNON ACCEPTS POST

Will Serve As State Chairman Of National Brotherhood Week

The New Orleans area office of the National Conference of Christians and Jews has announced the appointment of Judge Robert F. Kennon, associate justice of the supreme court of Louisiana, as state chairman of National Brotherhood Week which will be observed during the week of Washington's birthday, February 17-24. Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota will serve as national chairman.

In accepting the state chairmanship of Louisiana for National Brotherhood Week, Justice Kennon said: "In war, our people have been drawn closer together, Catholics, Protestants and Jews, rich and poor, native and foreign-born. Our joint efforts have been blessed with victory. . . . Many gave their lives for the American ideals of brotherhood. We can be true to their memory and worthy of their supreme sacrifice by demonstrating to the world that Americans of all creeds and national backgrounds can live and work together in peace and harmony, to further the common good and preserve intact our American Liberties."

Judge Kennon's native city is Minden, La. He is a graduate of Minden High School, and Louisiana State University where he obtained his law degree in 1925. While an undergraduate at the university he was a member of the varsity football squad and captain of the tennis team. In his freshman year, he received an award for the best scholastic average of any student in the university.

Brotherhood Week will be observed in civic clubs, schools and colleges, churches and other organizations in a number of cities and towns in Louisiana. Local committees of the conference have been organized in Alexandria, Baton Rouge, Lake Charles, Monroe, New Orleans and Shreveport. Many schools will observe Brotherhood Week in assembly programs on Washington's birthday.

The following proclamation has been issued by Governor Jimmie H. Davis:

WHEREAS, the president of the United States has called upon citizens generally to observe National Brotherhood Week; and

WHEREAS, the unity and harmony among our people which made possible the glorious victory over the enemies of democracy and freedom must be continued if we are to solve successfully the problems of peace.

NOW, THREFORE, I, J. H. Davis, governor of the State of Louisiana, do hereby call upon all loyal citizens to observe

NATIONAL BROTHERHOOD WEEK
February 17-24

under the sponsorship of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, to the end that we may have a more united citizenship, and together may advance the cause of democracy and freedom.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of Louisiana, at the Capitol, in the City of Baton Rouge, on this the 25th day of January, 1946, A. D.

JIMMIE H. DAVIS,
Governor of Louisiana.

CHURCH BUILDING FUND IS NEEDED

Urging members and friends "to rise up and build," Rev. J. C. Houston, pastor of Faith Baptist Church, organized only last July 4 with the aid of a few Christian men and women, in an old meat market opened a mission church. This new church, he says, was not sponsored by any local organization, and under the leadership of a few loyal ones the start was made. At a first prayer meeting an offering was received to pay the rent at $12.50 monthly. In July the church was organized with 12 members. Today the church has departments for all ages.

In view of the earnest, consecrated efforts of this little group, Rev. Houston has named Sunday, February 10, as "special offering day" for the building fund which is badly needed. The new site for the church, already purchased, is at Jackson and Orange Streets. The pastor appeals for financial aid from all who are willing to assist. He states that contributions, both large and small, will be thankfully received. Those who so desire can mail in their money to Box 405, Monroe, La.

PARISH TEACHERS COUNCIL MEETS

The council of the Ouachita Parish Teachers' Association met in Superintendent G. W. Welch's office, February 7, at 6:30 o'clock. The meeting was called to order by Mr. O. K. Bailey, the president, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Florence Jones, the secretary.

Mrs. Aimee Cook reported that committees are functioning on a program that will have for its purpose the discussion of problems pertaining to our school system at a conference to be held March 22 at the Ouachita Parish High School.

The council decided on certain recommendations to be submitted to the association dealing with changes to be requested of the school board.

A growing interest is evidenced in the Parish Teachers' Organization by the increased attendance at each meeting.

ministrator. The White House declined comment.

One official, well informed so far on the wage price jockeying, suggested: "Why should Bowles be moved up two steps?" This referred to the Bowles-Collet-Snyder chain of economic authority.

To bear this out there came, from still a third official source, the report that Bowles had gone to the White House Thursday expressly to seek more positive control of stabilization questions than he has heretofore enjoyed.

White House Secretary Charles G. Ross told his news conference that he had no answers to questions about a shakeup in the economic high command. A few minutes after the news conference he came out of his office with this statement:

"There has been no change in the directorship of the office of war mobilization and reconversion. No change has been discussed and none is contemplated."

The high official who reported Bowles leading in his fight for a continuing firm price policy said the OPA chief would get full assurance from the White House of genuine support throughout the administration, not subject to overriding or "emergency" decisions made above him.

This was a prime issue on which Bowles has tangled with Snyder.

However, the same source said Bowles would lose on "some of the more immediate questions," including the kind of price increase to be granted the strikebound steel industry.

This presumably meant that official favor was congealing on an increase around $5 a ton or more, as recently reported, instead of the much lower increase advocated by Bowles.

With clarification of such major issues, this official stated, an announcement on the wage-price issue may come soon, perhaps Monday.

Nevertheless, Bowles' appearance before the House banking committee was postponed a third time, from next Monday to next Thursday. The administration does not want him to discuss extension of the price control act until the wage-price question is solved.

"There's no use having an OPA hearing until they get together on wage-price," explained Representative Spence, Democrat, Kentucky, committee chairman.

In the last three weeks of hot and heavy discussion, the top officials reportedly came to agreement fairly soon on a decision that an over-all formula, applicable to other wage disputes as well as the critical steel case, was needed.

This was Bowles' position. Snyder has argued for an "intelligent flexibility" in price control which would enable him to deal with strike problems or production bottlenecks as they came up, through price treatment. Collet took Bowles' view.

At latest reports a steel price increase in the neighborhood of $5.25 was being discussed, instead of the $2.50 that Bowles wanted. The decision, OPA officials say, has been taken completely out of Bowles' hands in the administration's effort to get a strike settlement giving C. I. O.'s Steelworkers the 18 1 2 cent wage increase proposed by Mr. Truman.

The big item of controversy in the last week, it is reported, has been Bowles' demand for full assurance that he would run the price show. He wanted these assurances in the forthcoming wage-price policy statement—but if the White House is unwilling to discuss this internal question publicly, his aides said, Bowles would accept a private pledge.

sachusetts, trooped into the White House to assure the president of "our cooperation to the fullest extent possible."

For the most part, the housing industry lauded the plan, too. Two parts drew opposition.

The National Association of Real Estate Boards disapproved price control provisions. The Producers' Council, Inc., representing materials manufacturers, opposed subsidies to expand the production of supplies. It recommended a 10 per cent increase in prices of materials instead. West Coast lumber interests talked about price increases to boost production.

T. C. I. O. said in a statement that the program "is in the best interests of the veteran and all citizens who want a prosperous American economy."

In a message to Mr. Truman, President William Green of the A. F. of L. and Chairman Harry C. Bates of the A. F. of L. housing committee promised that organized labor would help.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, president of the conference of mayors, wired that he was "sure that all cities will approve your timely recommendation."

EDITOR IMPROVES

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Major Fred Sullens, editor of the Jackson Daily News, was reported at Jackson Infirmary tonight to be slightly improved. His wife was at his bedside and his daughter, Mrs. Scott Dickson, had been called from New York. The 67-year-old editor was stricken Tuesday with a heart attack while visiting at the infirmary, and was placed in an oxygen tent.

the point of exhaustion. Mayor William O'Dwyer ordered the most drastic system of fuel oil rationing in the city's history to protect "health and safety" and officials said the order might be applied to coal Monday.

Oil deliveries to amusement places were barred and business establishments were advised to "consider closing immediately" if their fuel supplies were low. One of the city's largest hospitals reported a one-day fuel supply on hand, many apartment houses were without heat and thousands of persons in cold-water flats were without kerosene and therefore without heat.

O'Dwyer asked the Office of Defense Transportation, which seized the tugboats to "man immediately, regardless of consequences" every tugboat in the harbor. He also asked Labor Secretary Schwellenbach to appoint a fact-finder in the dispute.

The workers have twice rejected proposals for ending the strike.

These were other labor developments across the nation:

1. An agreement to end a month long C. I. O. strike against Western Union in New York was ratified by union members yesterday, effective at 12:01 (E. S. T.) Monday. The proposal grants a wage increase of 12 1/2 cents an hour.

2. Special Mediator James F. Dewey who was named to attempt settlement of the General Motors strike, came from Detroit to Washington to report to Secretary Schwellenbach. He said he would return to Detroit Monday.

3. Volunteer drivers led by former soldiers continued maintenance of partial street car and bus service at Lancaster, Pa., where transportation workers are on strike. The volunteers, aided by police who clashed with pickets, got five trolleys and seven busses into operation for third successive day of partial service.

4. A. C. I. O. leader proposed a city-wide work stoppage in Peoria, Ill., next Wednesday "in protest" against the recent slaying of two pickets and wounding of three others in the Toledo, Peoria and Western Railroad strike.

5. A survey of major producers in Akron, O., the nation's rubber capital, showed the steel strike would halt most tire production in eight or ten more days. The steel bead wire supply for tires is nearly exhausted and plant cutbacks have started.

6. The Philadelphia Transportation Company rejected two conditional proposals for arbitration of wage and other issues made by the C. I. O. Transit Workers Union which has scheduled a strike of 9,655 employes for 11:01 p. m. (C. S. T.) Monday. The union is seeking a 15 cents an hour wage increase. The company offers 11 cents.

ILLICIT NARCOTIC SEIZURES INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The treasury department disclosed today illicit narcotic seizures increased sharply last year among indications that New York was the focal point of supplies for addicts.

The department said in a statement its agent also encountered the "first symptoms" of a problem which plagued them after World War I—smuggling of narcotics abandoned on the battlefields of Europe.

They arrested in Portland, Ore., last October a discharged infantryman carrying morphine and cocaine which he told them he picked up from a German hospital supply dump.

The treasury said it was working with Allied occupation authorities to corral all surplus narcotics supplies in war-torn areas.

After the First World War, it recalled, quantities of such narcotics found their way into illicit trade and contributed to a wave of addiction which swept through many countries.

Seizures of opium type narcotics in this country, the report said, rose from 7,226 ounces in 1944 to 10,995 ounces last year.

"Arrests of traffickers were somewhat fewer, indicating a continuing concentration of the racket in the hand of well-organized, well-financed mobs, it said, adding:

"New York City appeared to be the focal point of such traffic, with remnants of several notorious gangs active, their tentacles reaching in some cases across the nation.

Seizures of marihuana fell off from 12,138 ounces in 1944 to 9,475 ounces in 1945, "possibly reflecting the success of the bureau of narcotics in smashing several nationally operating gangs" trafficking "in fringes of the New York City night club belt."

MURRAY

five days later. The strike started at the end of the week.

(At a news conference last month, Murray had made some of the points about what he termed Fairless' tentative acceptance.

(In a statement in New York at the time, Fairless said:

"It is a base falsehood that I ever stated to Mr. Murray that I regarded his demand for a wage increase of 19 1 2 cents an hour meritorious or that I would recommend favorably to the steel industry the acceptance of such a wage increase.")

Murray, president of the C. I. O. and of the United Steelworkers Union, appeared today before the Senate labor committee to oppose President Truman's fact-finding plan for curbing labor strife.

He said the best thing Congress could do to improve labor relations would be to increase the appropriations and the "stature" of the labor department. He opposed any "so-called labor legislation."

Led on by questions, Murray spent most of the time discussing the steel strike, negotiations to settle it, and the C. I. O.

He said he thought some increase in the price of steel might be necessary to meet the union's demand for higher wages, adding:

"That point I am not prepared to debate. The phase of this situation to which I am addressing myself is the hijacking of prices to the point where the public will suffer, and the wholly unwarranted price increases to meet this wage proposal."

Presenting his story of the negotiations to senators today, Murray said that at a conference in New York Jan. 11 U. S. Steel offered to boost wages 15 cents an hour.

He said the corporation asked the union to set a figure on increases to cover inequities, under an old War Labor Board directive permitting an average of five cents an hour for inequities between plants and classifications.

The C. I. O. president said he countered that the union would settle for a 19 1 2 cents hourly increase and 3 cents for inequities.

Fairless told him, he said, that he regarded the offer favorably, that it was meritorious, and that he would recommend it to the industry. But he said Fairless declined to put the tentative agreement in writing.

areas with "the most difficult food and bread problems."

The report on the world food situation was prepared before President Truman issued this week a share-the-bread order intended to provide more food for the hungry abroad and less for people at home. The order may modify to some extent the department's analysis of conditions in other nations.

It will not change the department's estimate that world production of nearly all staple foods is below prewar figures during the 1945-46 season and that the shortages will be felt most severely in the first half of this year, before new crops are harvested.

For 1946-47, the department predicts increased production of most important crops, unless there is more unfavorable weather over large areas. But the output, it said, still is "certain" to be lower than before the war.

CLOTURE

minority pressure groups "who picket hotels where senators live."

There was tension during the test vote. A tatter ran through the galleries as Senator Bilbo (D.-Miss.), who takes pride in his filibustering, shouted "no."

The final tally showed 22 Democrats, 25 Republicans, the lone Progressive, La Follette (Wis.) favoring cloture with 28 Democrats and 8 Republicans opposed.

After it was over Senator Morse (R.-Ore.) announced to the Senate that "I shall see to it" that the principle of the FEPC legislation shall come back to the Senate floor "periodically."

Morse said "no issue is more fundamental" than the ability of the Senate to do business despite the devices of filibusters.

Earlier Senator Taft (R.-Ohio) had urged adoption of voluntary measures against discrimination rather than the compulsion provided in the bill.

LAFAYETTE, La., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Housing of veterans attending Southwestern Louisiana Institute in barracks at the former Lafayette School of Aeronautics has been authorized by the Federal Public Housing Authority, S. tons of coal, and 60,000,000 tons of oil.

When these goals are reached, "only then can we consider our country guaranteed against any eventuality," he said.

(The statesman's yearbook of 1945 said Russia's estimated production in 1941, last available year, was 18,000,000 tons of pig iron, 22,000,000 of steel, 191,000,000 of coal, and 38,000,000 of oil. The American Iron and Steel Institute gave U. S. production of pig iron in 1944 as 61,007,000 tons and steel as 89,641,000. The U. S. Bureau of Mines reported U. S. production of coal and coke in 1944 as 683,700,000 tons.)

Stalin, recalling foreign predictions that the Russian state was doomed to failure, declared the test of war had shown "that our Soviet system is popular, has grown out of the people, is capable of life and is a solid organization of society. The question is no longer whether the Soviet system can endure. * * *

"Now the question is that the Soviet system is more virile than any other, that it is the best system, better than any non-Soviet one. * * *

"The point is that the Soviet social system has proved to be more capable of life and more stable than a non-Soviet social system, that the Soviet social system is a better form of organization of society than any other non-Soviet social system."

"Now for the immediate future," he said, "the main thing is the new five-year plan which soon will be confirmed. Its main task is to restore areas that suffered, to restore pre-war level, and then considerably surpass it.

"Soon rationing will be abolished.

"Particular attention will be devoted to raising the standard of life of the working people by systematically reducing the cost of production of all goods.

"Secondly, we are building on a large scale scientific research institute to enable science to develop. I have no doubt that if we help our scientists, they will not only catch up with but surpass those abroad."

He then told of the future goals for iron, steel, coal and oil.

the corporation for the current and ensuing fiscal years and the actual condition and results of operation for the last completed fiscal year."

The law was known as the "financial control of government corporations" act, and was the authority for creation of the new subcommittee.

By having exclusive jurisdiction over the activities of the corporations, Mahon believes his group will be able to familiarize itself with each of them "and keep a better control over their operations on behalf of Congress."

"This is something entirely new," he said, "and we will have to move slowly on it. Hereafter the corporations are going to have to justify before the same committee each year not only their administrative expenses but all their other far-flung operations. They are handling billions of public funds and we intend to carefully review their operations."

The 41 corporations which Mahon's subcommittee will scrutinize on behalf of Congress are:

Commodity Credit Corporation, Federal Intermediate Credit Banks, Production Credit Corporations, Regional Agricultural Credit Corporations, Farmers Home Corporation, Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation, Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation, Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Defense Plant Corporation, Defense Supplies Corporation, Metals Reserve Company, Rubber Reserve Company, War Damage Corporation, Federal National Mortgage Association, The RFC Mortgage Company, Disaster Loan Corporation;

Inland Waterways Corporation, Warrior River Terminal Company, The Virgin Islands Company, Federal Prison Industries, Inc., United States Spruce Production Corporation, Institute of Inter-American Affairs, Institute of Inter-American Transportation, Inter-American Educational Foundation, Inc., Inter-American Navigation Corporation, Prencinradio, Inc., Cargoes, Inc., Export-Import Bank of Washington;

Petroleum Reserves Corporation, Rubber Development Corporation, U. S. OUACHITA

Ferry road beyond Bayou D'Arbonne is under water for some distance, and the Avant road from the bottom of the Linwil hill west of the Chenniere "iron bridge" designated at the site for the proposed Cheniere lake dam project is flooded.

The Jonesboro road, badly damaged by softening of the roadbed from last spring's record high water here, had never been fully repaired from the 1945 damage. Automobiles yesterday were still traveling over the flooded stretch between the West Monroe levee and Bawcomville, but were forced to proceed carefully.

No estimate of what rise could be expected as the result of the latest rains in the Ouachita valley was made, but the river is certain to continue its climb. At Camden, Ark., yesterday a rise of 3.1 feet was recorded bringing the stage to 31.1 feet. Flood stage at Camden is 26 feet.

The present high water threat so far is not serious in so far as Monroe and West Monroe are concerned since the cities are within protected levee areas. The lowlands outside the protection of levees, however, are seriously threatened and if the rains continue the flight of residents of these areas can be expected to duplicate of last spring's flood plights.

Rain water that flooded streets in Monroe and West Monroe caused some inconveniences, but pumps quickly relieve the situations as they arise.

Some codfish grow to a length of eight feet and a weight of 100 pounds.

CHURCHILL INVITED TO BRAHMAN SHOW

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, now vacationing in Florida, was invited today as "an outstanding representative of the British empire" to attend the first National Brahman show here February 13-17.

The invitation, in the form of a telegram signed by Gov. Jimmie Davis and Dr. W. B. Hatcher, president of Louisiana State University, was sent to Churchill at Miami Beach.

The message pointed out that Brahman cattle were imported into the United States several years ago from India for cross-breeding with native cattle and declared that "the results have been remarkable."

OF C. URGES YEAR OF ACTION

resident Points Out Many Needed Improvements In Twin Cities

"The year 1946 should be a year of ecision, and should bring an end to ussy-footing, procrastination and ali- ing on pressing problems of Monroe nd West Monroe," declared T. H. cott, president of the Chamber of Commerce, at the monthly meeting of the Chamber's board of directors Friday at noon in Hotel Virginia. "In many respects, particularly as a busi- ess center, Monroe-West Monroe are utstanding, but insofar as our in- ernal civic structure is con- erned, we are woefully inadequate many respects," he said. "Unfor- unately, about all we have done about hese inadequacies during the past ten ears has been to talk about them nd, to a large extent, not tackle them ith a will to solve them, Scott de- lared.

"Monroe's building code has grown t 33 year crop of whiskers, having been adopted in 1912, and is wholly in- dequate. Our sewer problems, our urface drainage problems are still with us. Our city officials of Monroe and West Monroe have co-operated with us in providing plans, specifica- ions, and engineering data to solve hese problems, but these officials an't solve these problems without he co-operation of our people. We have no zoning ordinance, no anti- noise ordinance characteristics of most progressive cities," Scott ob- erved.

"Our school system needs renova- ion and improving. West Monroe, a ity of ten thousand people, has no school above the grammar school evel. Ouachita Parish High School is rowded to death and Neville High School is half empty. Our teachers are paid a disgracefully low average wage scale. It doesn't take an expert to know that our two school systems have overlapping areas and duplicat- ng functions which should be elimi- nated and corrected for the benefit of our school children and to provide them with better education facilities and a richer and fuller school cur- riculum. Certainly one of the critical needs of the Twin Cities and Ouachita Parish is a comprehensive survey of our school systems by a comprehen- sive survey of our school systems by a competent, unbiased agency to point out our school deficiencies. When these deficiencies are defined, then we citizens should have the courage and initiative to correct them, Scott declared. We all know these condi- tions exist, but we have been afraid to try to do anything about them be- cause it's controversial, is a commun- ity hot potato, and the problem still goes begging," Scott declared.

"Our 1946 Program is designed to correct our deficiencies, and to pro- mote our civic and economic well- being, and we appeal for the help of all good citizens of the Twin Cities in accomplishing every single, solitary item in our program. We need every- body's help. We covet the good will and co-operation of everyone in ac- complishing this program. The chair- men of all twenty-six divisions of our program, and the 365 members of our Chamber of Commerce who are on our committees need the help, assist- ance and boosting of everybody," Scott said.

HUDSON-LEEHY POST IS ACTIVE

Plans To Buy Home In West Monroe; Meeting Held Friday

The Hudson-Leehy Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in West Monroe, oblig- gated four new members at the Fri- day night meeting. They were: Rev. E. A. Autrey, H. C. Salley, William Patrick and Glen Gates.

Guests present were Harold Breard, adjutant of the local AMVET post; Judge David I. Garrett, and O. C. Leehy (father of the man whose name the post bears).

It was voted to form a drum and bugle corps in conjunction with the Rodney J. Hobbs post of Monroe, and the West Monroe post voiced their ap- proval of the civic program that that city plans through an election later this month.

A special committee was named to consider purchase of a home for the post. Members of the committee are: Irving Zeidman, Glen Gates, Grady Brown and Mr. Wright. There will be a special meeting held next Fri- day to take action on the purchase of the home which the post is pro- posing to purchase.

Judge Garrett in his talk told how much better off veterans of this war are than were those of World War I, as the government is more responsive and the Veterans Administration and other groups are ready to aid men who are rendered needy through the serv- ice they have rendered their country.

Election of officers will take place March 8, stated Acting Post Com- mander George Lambert. Mr. Lam- bert also listed names of men who are to be obligated into membership shortly. They are: Durward Drahe, Oren J. Nash, George L. Smith, Jr., James B. Erben, Duke Hodge, Wilson H. Clampit, Dan W. Brister, L. C. Pace, J. H. Hodge, E. L. Hudson, E. S. Bamberg, Olan B. Parrish, Henry C. Hogan, H. Moore, A. B. Grant, Jr., and Donald F. Henry.

"Spirit," is the subject of the les- son-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, February 10, 1946.

The Golden Text is: "The Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God," (I Cor. 2:10).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit" (I John 4:13).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit, God, is infinite, all. Spirit can have no opposite" (p. 278).

The fact that the world in which we lieve needs Christ is generally agreed upon by all. Records in the files of the F. B. I.: and other gov- ernment agencies point to the fact that men and women have sunk to the low- est depths of sin and degradation. Children against parents, parents against children, murders, thievery, etc. But through all of this comes the Word of God. "If I be lifted up, I will draw all men unto me." A won- derful promise, coming from a won- derful Savior, who can give a wonder- ful salvation to a lost and rebel world. We urge the public to attend our serv- ices and assist in the spreading of the Word of God, and in the uplifting of His Son, Jesus Christ.

On to Ruston! The laymen of the Red River Presbytery will assemble in the First Presbyterian Church, Rus- ton, February 22. The fellowship will be inspirational: the program will prove helpful and provocative of thought. We expect a large delega- tion: the goal is fifty men.

"A Wise Man's Counsel" is the sub- ject. Who is not ready to listen to the wisdom of the intelligent, observ- ant, and far sighted? Among the sug- gestions of the wise men, this advise is super-wisdom. Will you worship with us that we may seek the mean- ings in the counsel of the Proverb maker? This is Boy Scout Sunday. Nothing is more valuable than our sons and our daughters. And because of the day our mediation will pertain to parents and children.

"Nicodemus, The Seeker" is the theme. We are studying the life of Jesus Christ, and giving attention to his technique in dealing with people. This is the first case-study. His ap- proach, His will to win, and His af- fection are such that Christians must follow in His footsteps.

A sincere welcome awaits you at all hours of worship.

A nursery is in operation for the parents with children, who may want to worship with us. And the ladies in charge are capable and understand- ing.

Our aim is a worship program that is spiritual, inspirational, suggestive, and Chirst-centered.

"Remember the sabbath day, to keep it holy. For verily, this is a day appointed unto you to rest from your labors, and to pay thy devotions unto the Most High. The sabbath was made for man, and not man for the sabbath. When ye fast, be not as the hypocrites, of a sad countenance; for they disfigure their faces, that they may appear unto men to fast. But thou, when thou fastest, anoint thine head, and wash thy face, that thou appear not unto men to fast, but unto thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father, which seeth in secret, shall reward thee openly. Jesus was risen early the first day of the week. Upon the first day of the week, when the disciples came together to break bread, Paul preached unto them." Thus we have the scriptures giving us instructions and admonitions pertain- ing to fasting and observance of the sabbath day. We are very definitely told not to make a public spectacle of our fasting and devotion but that the Lord will see what we do and know our reasons. Fasting and wor- ship is not something to make one ap- pear sad, but happy in the privilege of knownig and worshipping the Lord.

INDIAN QUINT HAS FULL WEEK AHEAD WITH 3 STRONG FOES

N. J. C. Meets Centenary, Arkansas A. And M., Magnolia A. And M. Here

The Northeast Junior College of L. S. U. Indians, idle on the cage floor the past week as they were busy preparing for the second semester of school and turning their gym for the week-end over to high school teams of this area here for the N. J. C. Invitational Tournament, play hosts to three tough opponents here this week as they give the home town folks a chance to see them in action against four-year college competition.

The schedule for the week pits Coach James L. Malone's Redskins against the Gentlemen from Centenary College here tomorrow night. Arkansas A. and M., undefeated this season, moved into Monroe from Monticello, Ark., for a game Tuesday night and then on Thursday night the Tribe will entertain Magnolia A. and M. from Magnolia, Ark.

The Gents, sporting a club composed entirely of returned war veterans, took the measure of the Tribe by the scant margin of 47 to 45 in a nip-and-tuck scramble at Shreveport a week ago, and the Malonemen are anxious to gain revenge. The score was tied until the last play of the game when the Gents scored a field goal, the whistle ending the game sounding while the ball was still in the air. Centenary had a tall, lanky team, and this towering height in respect to the comparatitve shortness of the Indian players was a deciding factor in the outcome of the game.

Arkansas A. and M. is meeting the Tribe for the first time this year with an all-veteran team noted for its fast-breaking offensive type of play. N. J. C. gives the Monticello aggregation a return game February 25.

The second get-together of the season between N. J. C. and Magnolia A. and M. promised to be another battle to compare with the hotly contested game played in Magnolia a week ago Friday, Magnolia on that occasion shaded the Indians, 49 to 48, and the Tribe feels Thursday will be its night to win.

It is probable that changes may be made in the Indian lineup by Monday since Coach Malone is trying various combinations to make up for loss of players by mid-term graduations and to the army draft.

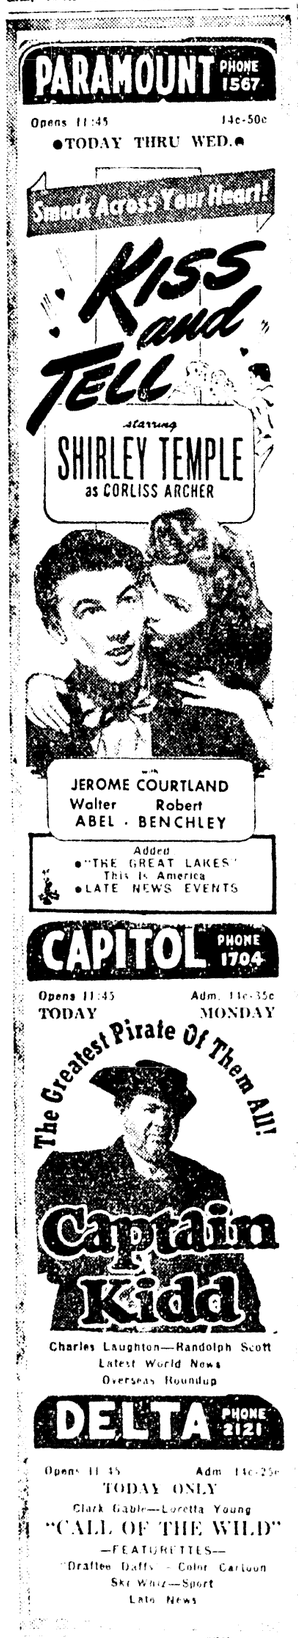
"I'm not in a position to say what my lineup will be next week," Coach Malone said yesterday.

But from the shape of things in Indian workouts it begins to look like Robert Edwards and Glenn Gossett will get the call at the guards, Meade Evans will be at center, and Marvin Aplin and Walter Johnson will be running at the forwards.

Roberts had been with the squad just two weeks, but he's proven a good defensive player and adept at receiving rebounds off the backboards. He's rounding into good physical condition and should see plenty of action in this week's games.

Gossett missed practice for a week because of an ankle sprain, but he should be ready to go tomorrow, Malone indicated.

In reserve will be Johnny King and Cecil Johnson, teammates at Ouachita Parish High last year, forwards; J. M. McBeth, and James L. Malone (no relation to the Indian coach although of the same name) at guards; and Harvey Traylor, member of the team last season who didn't attend school the first semester of the present school year but enrolled again at mid-term center. Also on hand will be "Stick" Adams and "Flash" Parce, also new mid-term additions who were outstanding athletes for "Dutch" Bunion at Bastrop High School three seasons ago and were recently discharged from military service.



CASTILLO BOOSTS PRO TOURNEY LEAD

NEW IBERIA, La., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Henry Castillo of Baton Rouge, defending champion in the Louisiana professional golf tournament, increased his lead to eight strokes in the third round today, carding a 34-33-67.

Jack Stoddard of Lewsville was still in second place, scoring 31-37-68, and Floyd Reid of New Iberia and Irving King of Shreveport remained in a tie for third with 35-36-71 and 36-35-71 respectively.

Final round of the tourney will be played tomorrow for prizes totaling $650.

Contestants and their scores to date: Castillo, 131-67-198; Stoddard, 138-68-206; King, 140-71-211; Reed, 140-71-211; Ned White, 144-69-213; Leo Silva, 145-69-214; Sidney Danjean, 144-73-217; Willie Cooper, 147-73-220 and Jennings Camet, 147-74-221.

NELSON, HOGAN TIED WITH 132

Bantam Ben Shoots Six Under Par To Share Lead At San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Bantam Ben Hogan raced in with a six-under-par 65 on wind-swept Brackenridge Park course today to tie Byron Nelson for the lead at the halfway mark in the Texas Open. The two carded 132 for 36 holes.

Hogan's great round was climaxed by a birdie deuce on No. 18 after the little giant of the fairways had counted two eagles.

Nelson came in today with a 68 and had left the clubhouse an hour before Hogan, with whom he used to caddy at Fort Worth, finished up, grinning broadly.

Four strokes back at 136 was Art Doering, young Denver professional who had tied Nelson with a 64 at the end of yesterday's first round. Doering shot a one-over-par 72 today as he ran into troubles on holes five and seven where he was one and two over respectively.

Nelson had predicted just before he left the course that Hogan would tie him. Ben at that time was five under par.

Hogan, leading money-winner of the year along the P. G. A. tour, now hangs his golf clubs at Hershey, Pa.

Vic Ghezzi of Knoxville, Tenn., and Jim Ferrier of Chicago, former Australian champion, tied for fourth place with 137 each, Ghezzi shooting a 67 today while Ferrier was hitting 69.

Next in line were four more professionals Dick Metz, Arkansas City, Kans.; Herman Keiser, Akron, Ohio, Toney Penna, Dayton, O., and Bob Hamilton, Chicago. Each had 138.

Amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Nelson's protege; and Professionals Herman Barron, White Plains, N. Y. and George Schoux, San Francisco had 139's.

The field today was cut to 62—the 60 low scorers and ties—and will play the final 36 holes tomorrow.

NELSON WILLING

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Byron Nelson, golf's greatest money-winner, said today he would be willing to play with a synthetic ball if all other golfers would do likewise.

But, he declared in commenting on a protest filed with the professional golfers association by Jimmie Demaret, Houston professional, this would mean that one certain ball would have to be adopted because to use the balls from the various companies would make it more unfair than the synthetic ball versus the pre-war ball.

Demaret, here competing in the Texas open, said yesterday in wiring his protest to Ed Dudley, president of the P. G. A., that it was not fair for a fellow back from the service and unable to obtain pre-war golf balls to have to shoot against a player who had a stock of them.

Nelson asserted that "I don't believe any of the boys who feel they have a chance of winning are playing with the synthetic ball and I think any boy who is making this tour can dig up a pre-war ball if he tries." The Toledo, Ohio, golfer, agreed with Demaret that the pre-war ball was easily three strokes better than the synthetic.

EX-GRID STAR LIKES POST IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The big guy sitting behind a desk in the front of Senator Bilbo, Democrat, Mississippi, looked burly enough to be somebody's bouncer.

"The name's Lumpkin, John 'Tiny' Lumpkin," he said, somewhat in the manner of Senator Claghorn on the radio. "And that ain't no joke, son."

Could he be one of the Lumpkin boys who tore up Southern gridirons years ago?

"Sure am, son. Captain at Ole Miss in 1917, center on defense and tackle on offense; cousin of 'Father' Lumpkin, Georgia, who later played with the Chicago Bears.

"Two brothers, Marshal and Lorenzo, who played tackle at Mississippi College and Mississippi Southern, and I coached at Southern in 1929-33."

But being up here—sen—ah, "Tiny?" How come?

"I'm clerk of the District of Columbia Committee, of which Senator Bilbo is chairman. Been on the job two weeks."

Doesn't this capital life grate on an old footballer?

"Not at all, son. I don't know the difference from being here or down home. I had four years in the House and Four in the Senate in Mississippi.

"Guess I've done a little of almost everything connected with public life but preaching. Come to think of it, I even preached once, but maybe I'd better not discuss that."

Some folk say that "Tiny"—he was "Big John" in his football days—6 feet-2, 246 pounds, really is bodyguard for his fiery boss. But that isn't what "Tiny" says.

"Sure, I go around with the Senator some, but not to protect him. He can take care of himself."

SEWANEE SEEKS NEW CONFERENCE

Football League Of Small Southern Colleges May Be Organized

SEWANEE, Tenn., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Athletic Director Gordon Clark of the University of the South said today Sewanee, the former gridiron powerhouse of Dixie, was interested in organizing a southern football conference of small colleges.

"I hope such an association will be functioning by next fall," he asserted in an interview.

"However," Clark remarked, "we should be interested only in going in with schools that do not subsidize football."

The University of the South athletic board voted last week to field a football team without subsidization from the school.

Clark said Centre College of Danville, Ky., and Mississippi College of Clinton, Miss., had expressed an interest in entering a conference of small schools. He said he had written officials at Mercer University of Macon, Ga., and Southwestern of Memphis, Tenn., to learn their attitudes.

"We have urged the formation of a conference of small colleges ever since we dropped out of the Southeastern," Clark commented. "The time to organize is now and we hope some action will be taken this spring.

"We believe it would be the practical thing to unite. There would be more interest in football through a conference."

Small colleges in the south have not been organized in the athletic field since the Dixie Conference became inactive in 1941.

Sewanee, which dominated the Southern football picture at the turn of the century, dropped out of the Southeastern conference in 1940 and suspended its intercollegiate athletic program in 1941.

SOUTHEASTERN LOOP TO ADOPT SCHEDULE TODAY

SELMA, Ala., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Directors of the Southeastern League will meet here tomorrow to adopt a 1946 schedule. They agreed previously on a 140-game schedule opening April 18.

Renewing baseball competition this year for the first time since the war, the class B circuit is composed of Montgomery, Selma, Meridian, Jackson and Vicksburg, Miss., Pensacola, Gadsden and Anniston.

BASEBALL OPENS SPRING TRAINING

Each Club Has Topheavy Roster And Much Trading Is Expected

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Baseball's most interesting spring training season opens today with the New York Giants and Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers forming the vanguard of more than 900 big leaguers returning to warmer climes after three years absence.

Each club has a top-heavy player roster that must be pruned by sale, option or outright release. Who will go and who will stay depends largely on the playing condition of the returning service men who will decide the 1946 pennant races.

St. Louis, for example, has an excess of talent on the Cardinal ball club that goes into St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 18. Owner Sam Breadon and Manager Eddie Dyer must decide if Terry Moore, Max Lanier, Howie Pollet and others can play up to prewar standards. They also must determine if younger players like Dick Sisler and Fred Martin are ready for the big show.

Once the decision is made, the biggest selling bee since the Florida land boom will be under way. Every club in baseball hopes to land a Cardinal pitcher and the bidding may go sky high if the right players are put on the market.

As all returning service men must be given a 30-day training camp trail (15 days in the regular season) and receive 15 days pay before they can be shunted to a lower league, little trading action is expected before March 15. But the teams then will have an entire month before the season opens in which to make their changes.

Although the Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs won the 1945 flags there is no assurance that they will be favored to repeat. Most of the early pickers are tabbing the Yankees and Cardinals.

Only two managerial changes have been made since the World Series, both in the National where Billy Southworth left the Cards to replace Del Bissonette at Boston. Dyer, a veteran minor league pilot, succeeded Billy the Kid.

Most of the teams are holding special early camps for their ex-GI's, some in connection with the regular training and one, the Cubs, at a different site. Scout Jack Sheehan has been working with a squad of Bruin veterans in Florida for almost a month.

Brooklyn opened its "Montreal" camp at Sanford, Fla., Feb. 1 and a bevy of minor league managers have been helping President Branch Rickey instruct the dischargees.

Manse Joe McCarthy led his 38-man expedition into Fairyland today where they will work out and plan an 11-game schedule starting Feb. 21. In the meantime other Yanks will report at the main bases in St. Petersburg and Bradenton Feb. 16-23.

L. S. U. BOXING TEAM TO OPEN AGAINST WISCONSIN

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Louisiana State University's first boxing team in several years will meet the University of Wisconsin at Madison, March 22, J. T. Owen, L. S. U. boxing coach, announced today.

Owen said that he hoped to schedule three or four other matches for his team before the Wisconsin meet.

ORLEANS TOURNEY OPENS WEDNESDAY

Pro-Amateur Event Precedes Starting Of Tourney Proper Thursday

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The New Orleans open tournament, with Byron Nelson as defending champion and war bonds of $10,000 maturity value in the purse, is the next event for the touring professional golfers.

Following a pro-amateur round Wednesday, the tourney proper will occupy the club-swingers from Thursday through Sunday, with 18 holes of play a day over the long 6608-yard city park course.

Amateurs and sports writers are particularly pleased over agreement to the pro-amateur event by the P. G. A., which had lately refused to commit itself to such competition. Sports Editor Harry Martinez of the New Orleans States expressed the concensus in his daily column:

"The agreement that the pro-amateur even had been eliminated brought nothing but resentment from the amateurs here. • • • The contention of the professionals was that they were paired up in a pro-amateur event with golfers who shoot high scores. • • • The pros are very fortunate that they're able to tour about the country and have cities put up such fat purses for them to win with no obligation on their part other than to show up and play. They should be willing to make some concession in any city that is willing to put up the money."

The professionals have always regarded the city park course as a severe test of ability. Laid out on flat terrain, it has "dead" fairways, many water hazards and plenty of traps. Wind blows freely over the flat course and often makes the difference between a birdie and a bogey. Par is 37-35-72, with unusually hard four-pars and easy five-pars.

TWIN BILL SET FOR MAT SHOW

Villmer To Meet Clements, Lee To Face Davis In Double Main Event

Promoter Gus Kallio comes up with a double main event program for his wrestling customers this week with such heavyweight tusslers as Ray Villmer, Dizzy Davis, Don Lee, and Ray Clements furnishing the fireworks at Kallio's Walnut street arena Thursday night.

Villmer, mighty impressive with his speed and lightning attacks in his first date here the past week, will come back for a scrap with Ray Clements, newcomer showing here for the first time.

Clements, whose talents have been displayed before Kallio in other rings, was described by the local promoter as a fast, scientific wrestler "and plenty tough." He'll certainly have to be good to beat the kind of work Villmer was showing the local critics last Thursday.

The other half of the twin bill pits Davis, the playboy from Hollywood, Calif., against huge Don Lee, 240-pound giant from Atlanta, Ga. Davis will be spotting Lee plenty of weight but the scrap promises to be quite a brawl with the lumbering human tank matching wits with the more versatile Davis in the battle of villains. Both Lee and Davis use any tricks and holds that strike their fancy, and, legal or not, it's all the same to them.

Lee was Villmer's partner the past week in the winning of a tag team scramble from Abe Zvonkin and Ellis Bashara.

Both bouts Thursday will have time limits of an hour and fifteen minutes with two falls required to win in each scrap.

Pole beans should be planted in hills three feet apart each way.

INOR CIRCUITS SLOW ORGANIZING

lany Difficulties Hurdled In Getting Small Loops Ready For Play

ATLANTA, Feb. 9.—(AP)—If the difculties some of the minor baseball eagues are having with their oranization plans are harbingers of hings to come, a lot of grief is just round the corner.

Some of the leagues resuming after he war had little or no trouble, but he Florida International, the Evangeline, the Alabama State and the Tri-State, to mention just four, covered ome rocky ground before settling afairs.

The Florida International, the Hana club providing the second half f the title, finally dropped down to ix clubs when Fort Myers withdrew protesting a decision that each club eep all its home-gate receipts, inead of splitting after each series. ort Lauderdale had not definitely tered so the league decided to opate with six clubs.

The Evangeline had a much stronger xperience and less than a month ago hree tentative members dropped out nd three new ones got in. Last fall here was talk of organizing a Teche eague which would have embraced ost of the cities in the then deinct Evangeline League.

The Alabama State finally got down the meat in the coconut last Sunay when Brewton and Geneva, two f the clubs regarded as doubtful arters, posted their guarantee fees ith the four others. Now they're ll hunting players and three of them re still looking for managers.

The Tri-State League's club came terms this week with announcement that Knoxville, Charlotte, Spartanburg, Shelby, Anderson and Asheville would compose the loop. A controversy at Spartanburg over division of concession receipts between he city and the sponsors, was just ne of the hurdles involved.

BASKIN, OGDEN WIN TITLES IN COLLEGE CAGE TOURNEY

Girl Champs Beat Quitman, Ogden Boys Trim Chatham In Finals

The Baskin High School Girls' basketball team successfully defended its championship in the Northeast Junior College Invitational basketball tournament here last night to win the crown for the second time, but a new champion took over in the boys' division when the Ogden High School quintet defeated Quitman in the finals to win the title for the first time. Ouachita Parish of Monroe, defending boys' champions, lost to Ogden in the semi-finals.

Baskin's sextet, led by Gloria Crooks and Terry Brady, nosed out a hard fighting Chatham High School aggregation, 39 to 34, in the finals. The championship game was close all the way and the score was tied 20-20 at the half, and 32-32 going into the last period.

The Baskin girls, coached by Willie Mae "Tiny" Tarbutton, gained the finals with victories over Lake Providence, Winnsboro, and Columbia. Victories over Grayson, Bastrop, and Kilbourne put Mrs. J. A. Ewing's Chatham girls in the finals, and the play of such girls as Eloise McCasland, Mowalene Costin, Dot Tullos, Grace Winnie Wright, Nell Ayres, and Claudine Hackworth almost proved more than the Franklin parish sextet could handle.

Coach Elmer Hatten's Ogden boys claimed the championship of the dethroned Ouachita Lions when they knocked off Quitman, 23 to 18. W. H. Johnston, regarded as the outstanding player of the tournament in the boys' division, was high scorer in the defeat of Quitman with eleven points. T. R. Woods set the pace for Coach Lelan Swanner's Quitman five with eight points.

The championship Ogden team barely scraped past Ouachita to gain the finals when the new titlist nosed out Coach Herbert H. Holliman's club, 24 to 23 in the semi-finals. Quitman went to the finals by defeating Winnsboro, 31 to 28, after fighting off a strong challenge from the Bastrop Rams who lost to Quitman in the quarter-finals, 25 to 23. Winnsboro reached the semi-finals with a quarter-finals win over Linville, 32 to 31, and Ouachita reached the Ogden contest with a quarter-final win over Fort Necessity, 42 to 25.

Tournament officials at the close of the meet named all-tournament teams in both divisions.

The girls' tournament team was selected as McCasland, Chatham, and Crooks and Brady, Baskin, forwards; and Genell Gray, Baskin, Pool, Kilboure, and Costin, Chatham, guards.

The boys' all-stars named were W. H. Johnston, Ogden, center; C. J. Fontana, Ouachita, and T. R. Woods, Quitman, guards; and Willie Ray Sasser, Ogden, and Wiggins, Winnsboro, forwards.

Ogden's Johnston was the leading shotmaker of the tournament in the boys' division with 53 points. Woods, Quitman, got 40 points for the meet. Close behind were Ernest "Buster" King, Ouachita, with 39, and Maurice "Red" Rawls, Ouachita, with 32.

Individual scoring honors for the girls' division were shared jointly by May Thompson, Columbia, and Terry Bardy, Baskin, with 68 points each, but Miss Thompson appeared in only three games while Miss Brady fired away at the nets in four. Gloria Crooks, Baskin, scored 61 points for the tourney, and Grace Winnie Wright, Chatham, ran up a total of 56. Beeson, Kilbourne, made 45 in three games.

Highest score for a single game in the girls' ranks went to Miss Fain, Ogden, who swished the nets for 26 points in the defeat of Marion in the quarter-finals.

Top single game score in the boy's class was chalked up by Ogden's Johnston as he made 20 points in beating Chatham in a second round game Friday. He also made 18 points in leading the defeat of Ouachita yesterday afternoon. Ouachita's King got 18 points in the defeat of Fort Necessity; Donald Gene Bennett, Winnsboro, made 17 against Epps; Rawls, Ouachita, got 15 twice, once against Marion and again against Fort Necessity; and Sawyer, Bonita, tallied 15 in the game with Okaloosa.

The tournament, described as one of the most successful since the organization of the event in 1937, attracted 39 teams, and 40 would have been on hand if the Clarks girls had not been forced to withdraw at the last minute because of illness of players.

A. S. Huffman, physical educational director at N. J. C. and recently returned from a military leave of absence, directed the boy's division of the meet and made the presentations of trophies to the first and second place teams at the close of the event last night. Miss Ada Bess Hart, women's physical educational director, had charge of the girls' games, and Huffman and Miss Hart had able officials on hand.

Miss Hart appeared especially pleased by the appearance in the meet of four of her former students who majored in physical education at N. J. C. Two of them returned as coaches, Florine Works, Lake Providence, and Willie Mae Tarbutton, Baskin, and the other two, Mrs. Colcen Hart Mann and Mary Lee George, nationally rated girls' basketball officials, served as referees. The teams of Misses Works and Tarbutton, who attended school together here, met in the first round with Baskin beating Lake Providence, 30 to 17.

The day's summary:

Girls' semi-finals — Chatham 34, Kilbourne 29; Baskin 38, Columbia 21. Finals—Baskin 39, Chatham 34.

Boys' quarter-finals — Ogden 31, Bonita 10; Ouachita 42, Fort Necessity 25; Winnsboro 32, Linville 31; Quitman 25, Bastrop 23. Semi-finals—Ogden 24, Ouachita 23; Quitman 31, Winnsboro 28. Finals—Ogden 23, Quitman 18.

OLD RIVALS MEET IN CAGE BATTLES

ATLANTA, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Only eight league games are included in 19 set for the Southeastern conference basketball race next week, but there's plenty of rivalry involved.

Tennessee and Kentucky tangle at Lexington Saturday night, as Alabama invades Louisiana State. Georgia opens the card with Tennessee at Knoxville Monday night and then comes here Friday night for a return game with Georgia Tech.

Rounding out the list, Mississippi State, the only team in the conference yet to win a game, plays at Mississippi on Tuesday and Wednesday and entertains Auburn on Friday and Saturday. The latter games conclude Auburn's schedule for the season.

Next week's schedule:

Monday—Florida at Jacksonville Cavaliers Club, Georgia at Tennessee, Louisiana Tech at L. S. U.

Tuesday—Columbia AAB at Alabama, Florida at Green Cove Navy, Georgia Tech at Duke, Mississippi State at Mississippi.

Wednesday—Corpus Christi NAS at L. S. U., Mississippi State at Mississippi.

Thursday—New Orleans NAS at Tulane.

Friday—Auburn at Mississippi State, Florida at Orlando AAB, Georgia at Georgia Tech.

Saturday—Alabama at L. S. U., Auburn at Mississippi State, Georgia Tech at South Carolina, Vanderbilt at Murray, Tennessee at Kentucky, Jackson Barracks at Tulane.

MANY TEAMS TO COMPETE IN BOWLING TOURNAMENT

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 9.—(AP)—A total of 5,744 teams have entered the 1946 American Bowling Congress Tournament which will open March 14 on the 74th regiment alleys in Buffalo, A. B. C. Secretary Elmer H. Baumgarten announced today.

The entry total is the third largest since the A. B. C. held its first tournament in 1901. Top year was 1940, when 6,073 teams rolled at Detroit.

The Chicago Budweiser team, which captured the National A. B. C. crown in 1942 with a 3,131 total, will not compete this year, Baumgarten said. The annual event was discontinued after that meeting because of the war.

N. Y. U. BEATS IRISH

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(AP)—New York University's hard-driving basketball Violets held off a typical late rally by Notre Dame's crack courtmen tonight to score a 62-58 victory over the Irish before a crowd of 18,095 fans in Madison Square Garden.

TULANE SCORES 58-TO-54 VICTORY OVER MAROONS

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Hal Peck and George Check tonight led Tulane to a 58 to 54 Southeastern conference basketball victory over Mississippi State.

State led throughout most of the first half, with Bucky Walters, Billy Howard, Mac Peevey and Benny Gann holing baskets from all angles of the court. Tulane pulled abreast with four minutes remaining in the first period when Peck dropped a field goal to knot the score at 22 all. The Wave led, 31 to 28, at the half.

OPENER ANNOUNCED

DALLAS, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The Southern Methodist University Mustangs will meet the Texas Aggies in their conference baseball opener here April 12-13, Lester Jordan, acting business manager of athletics at S. M. U., announced today. Dr. Lloyd Messersmith will coach the Mustangs.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Harold Anderson, the Bowling Green, (Ohio) coach, estimate that a basketball center travels approximately two miles at top speed if he plays a full game with a firewagon team. . . . But we still don't think George Mikan could beat Greg Rice, or vice versa. . . . Mike Jacobs guessed right when he upped prices for last night's Beau Jack-Johnny Greco brawl. It wasn't much of a boxing exhibition but it was a heck of a fight and we still can't understand why the customers booed. . . . Pete Cawthon was offered the football coaching job at Mississippi University before Red Drew took it but decided to stay with the Detroit Lions, where there are fewer strings attached to the job. Pete probably earned his pay when he landed Tulsa's Camp Wilson, whom he had known since Camp's high school days in El Paso, Tex.

Today's Guest Star

L. H. Gregory, Portland Oregonian: 'The championship late football team canquet of all time was that of the U. S. C. Trojans, who waited until February 1. . . . Could it be in the hope that what happened to them January 1 would be forgotten by then?"

One-Minute Sports Page

Eleven Notre Dame-N. Y. University basketball games in Madison Square Garden before tonight have drawn an average attendance of 17,591. . . . The Violets won't have Ray Lumpp for tonight's tussle with the Irish, but it may be they'll get some lumpps. . . . Chicago's Bentley-Mosienko forward line looks like a cinch to become the second in hockey history to earn all-star rating as a unit. The Canadians' Lach-Richard-Blake trio last season was the first . . . And don't be surprised if Detroit's Harry Lumley finished one-two in the voting for all-star goalie. . . . The National Football League already has two requests for first refusal of television rights to all its games. . . . Dyke Eddleman, former Illinois basketball and track star, expects to get them papers from the army February 14. That will be a nice valentine for the Illini coaches.

Room And Bored

When Len Taglia, upstate New York boxer, came to New York City for a shot at the big time, he visited Mother Brown's boarding house on 92nd street just in time to get the room vacated by Marty Servo, the new welter champion. . . . Lou Ambers and Joey Archibald, both former champs, also occupied that room when they first hit New York. . . . The precedent is good only as long as no one tags Taglia.

Weak End Items

Billy Southworth can earn as much as $65,000 for managing the Braves this season on a sliding salary scale that goes up 10 G's for every place above fifth. . . . So you can't blame Billy if he spends a little of his employers' dough for good players. . . . George (Washingdone) Marshall, pro football's idea assembly line, proposes two National League publicity offices because "we're really operating two leagues." Could that be an opening wedge of some sort?

A MESSAGE TO MEN

EX-SERVICE MEN IN PARTICULAR

SIG HAAS & SONS, like most other fine Men's Stores throughout the nation, realize our inability to serve the discharged service men and civilians, either promptly or properly at present with wearing apparel. We deeply regret this deplorable situation. HOWEVER, it is a circumstance entirely beyond our control! The shortage of suits, overcoats, slacks, shirts, pajamas, shoes and other items still exists. As 1946 will progress there should be a decided improvement, though it may be many months before stocks are any ways near adequate.

But this much we know—and we assure you—as soon as apparel for men, in such quantities and quality as consistent with our store become available, we will have it. And that we intend to serve the men of Monroe and this vicinity in the same manner in which this store has served them for 40 years

UNTIL such time as shortages no longer exist, we will appreciate your indulgence and thank you for your forebearance.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Stocks, heavy; liquors, rails, steel lead decline. Bonds, irregular; most rails decline. Cotton, strong; trade and textile buying.

CHICAGO—Wheat, unchanged at ceilings. Corn, unchanged at ceilings. Rye, unchanged to 2 3 8 cents lower; liquidation. Cattle, nominally steady. Hogs, nominally steady, top $14.85 ceiling.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The stock market today suffered one of its sharpest breaks of the past month with liquors, rails and steels suffering declines of 1 to more than 7 points at the worst.

Scattered recoveries appeared approaching the close although most pivotals were at or near the lows of the brief session. Transfers for the two hours were in the neighborhood of 1,000,000 shares.

Reason for profit taking liquidation varied. The delayed price-wage formula for the administration, waning hopes of a quick steel strike settlement and apprehension over a possible new "hold-the-line" move by Washington apparently prompted many customers to shelve commitments.

Bonds turned irregularly downward Commodities were steady.

The buying in the extremely active short Saturday session appeared due mostly to the better price outlook as well as to week-end short covering.

New York

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(AP)—In the cotton futures market values advanced into new highs for the season today. Price rose as much as 75 cents a bale as trade and mill buying orders disclosed a scarcity of offerings which were confined to week-end profit taking. Prospects for a tightening in the supply of United States cotton as a result of large export movement before a new crop is picked was the major factor for the buying movement. Reports from the south stated that the country was not a free seller of cotton this week.

Futures closed 35 to 90 cents a bale higher.

HIKE REQUIREMENT ON COTTON MARGIN

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The New Orleans cotton exchange today raised initial margin requirement on cotton contracts for customer accounts from $10 to $15 a bale, effective next Monday.

The action was taken at a meeting of the board of directors, which was presided over by D. T. Manget, Jr., president of the exchange. It duplicated another raise of two weeks ago when the margin was boosted from $5 to $10 a bale.

The exchange also raised commissions on trading in future contracts, effective Feb. 15. Under this advance the commission is raised from $25 to $30 a contract when the price of cotton is between 25 cents and 30 cents a pound.

For each five cents a pound in excess of 30 cents, an additional 20 per cent of the original rate is to be added. This rule will allow a commission of $35 a contract when the price exceeds 30 cents a pound.

IN INSECTICIDES
We are bonded and licensed now manufacturing insecticide containing the new and potent insecticide DDT. This formula is practically the same as that being used so successfully by the U. S. Public Health Service in their house spraying and should not be confused with the oil solutions now flooding the market. We will, at no cost to you, consign a stock of the 5% emulsion and the 10% powder to your store to be paid us as sold. Our reason for making this attractive offer is to prove to the people that this insecticide is the true formula originated by the Geigy Co. of New York. REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

86—Houses For Sale

Here I Am Again, Folks, With Some of the Best Listings in Town, Could Put in More But I'm Tired of Writing.

ROUND AND ROUND I GO
—WHERE I STOP NOBODY KNOWS!

WHY PAY FOR A HOME YOU NEVER OWN?
Why . . . pay for someone else's home when you may be told to move any day?

Make your rent an equity . . . It's as cheap to buy as it is to rent. . . . Let me show you some of the homes I have listed.

Why give the government all of your money when you can invest it in a real paying proposition. I have a 4-Apt. brick house completely furnished. All rented, located on N. side of Monroe on bus line. Let it pay for itself. Priced $21,000.

HERE I AM AGAIN—I have "a broken arm and two broken ribs." I had so many people wanting to buy the house on 205 South 3rd St. I had to solve the problem before I landed in the hospital. I put their names in a hat and pulled out the winner. Well, everybody is ... or almost happy. I still need some more bargains like that so I can make the rest happy. Call me and let me list your home.

Have 7-room house, lot 60 ft. x 120 ft. Furnished. Also 4-room garage Apt. on 30 ft. lot. Floor furnaces and attic ventilation. $15,500. House itself rents for $90 per month.

Located just outside city limits West Monroe. Buses pass in front of residence. Can be seen by appointment only. $8,300.

SH-H-R-H!!!
I have some listings from the "399" of Monroe, they used to be the "400" BUT ONE DIED, they are anxious to sell but swore me to secrecy. I have some of the most choice places of North Monroe. Locations can not be divulged. If you come to my office in person, we will go out and sneak in the back entrance and look these places over. Don't phone about them because I can't tell, but I'll show you if you have the real dough. Herr Goering's place in Germany WITH ALL HIS STEALING, can not compare with some of these homes.

3014 Dick Taylor St.
2 Bedroom House

I have 120 ft. on Louisville Ave. next to Hill Lumber Co. This is an ideal business location. $85 per front ft. 225 ft. deep.

Your rent buys only 30 days' security. Monthly payments on these properties will secure your family for life . . . think it over!

10, 20, 30, 40, 60, 80 acre tracts. Farm land, gravel road, near Sterlington. This is Phillips Estate. Lights and gas. $85.00 an acre.

One lot 75 ft. x 150 ft. on Stubbs between Sixth and Seventh. $1,550.

One lot 60 ft. x 150 ft. on Myrtle and Park Ave. $1,250.00.

CHEESE AND CRACKERS!!!
There are lots of people like myself—we are all going nuts looking for places! I am looking for places to sell, others looking for places to buy. I have suggested the 4 lots I have left in Pineville. Several agreed if they didn't find something real soon, they would buy in Pineville next to the Crazy House. Well, folks, I don't mind telling you I am not going to sell the 4 lots in Pineville—I am retaining one for myself because I know eventually I will wind-up there. I know you don't want to see people going nuts. You must have a heart, or a piece of one, so do your good deed—list that house with me and save several lives. Even my competitors feel sorry for me. Two of them called me and said they would try their best to keep me from going crazy.

Folks I told you about that G. I. Joe that demanded I locate him a place to live or else! I was unable to find this G. I. a place for his family. Rather than have my eyes blackened I compromised by giving him a job. He is now working for me and has the first opportunity to get himself some place to live. So everybody is happy.

Have beautiful 3 bedroom house on North Side Monroe, corner lot 55 ft. x 150 ft. This is strictly an appointment deal. $10,500.00.

THIS IS IT!!!
A duplex—LIVE FREE—let the payments pay your rent. This duplex is in West Monroe. Only $4,750. Don't waste time or words as you will lose out. Buy this at once or somebody else will!

This is what you've been looking for. Three bedroom house. Brick construction, furnished. Also garage Apt. furnished. ½ block from Georgia Tucker School. Immediate possession. $12,500.00.

All right you rich folks. Want to get out of the 95% class? Here is your chance to invest some of those profits you made during the war. Have one-half block of ground in heart of business section of Monroe, this includes two-story building. Price $175,000. Also can furnish you with several long term leases. Firms looking for locations see me about this.

VALENTINE QUEEN TO BE CROWNED

Will Highlight Festive Occasion At College Friday Night

Crowning the queen who will reign over the Valentine dance in the Northeast Junior College gymnasium Friday from 9 to 12 p. m., will highlight the festive occasion, which promises to include many entertaining features. The dance is being sponsored by the Purple Jackets and Gold Jackets by invitation of the Student Council of N. J. C.

Identity of her royal majesty will not be divulged until she is presented in colorful ceremonies during which she will be crowned by Thomas Leigh, member of the Louisiana State University board of supervisors. This honor will be bestowed upon the girl receiving the highest number of votes in an election last week when seven coeds were chosen by campus poll. The six others will serve as maids in the queen's court. The queen and maids are to choose their escorts for the evening.

Coeds elected include: Julia Wilson, West Monroe; Yvonne Lusk, Epps; Betty Hale, Monroe; Beverly Bogan, Castor; Glennadora White, West Monroe; Barbara Finley, Harrisonburg; Barbara Ellis, Monroe.

One of the features of the evening's entertainment will be the grand march led by the queen and king, maids and their escorts. Music for the occasion will be played by Collie Fontana's orchestra.

Student committees planning the dance include: Decorations, Johnny Johnson, John O'Neal, Jerry Roberts, Jen Fisher, Glennadora White, Laura Leah Worsham and Iris Jean Cheatham; tickets, Charles Guerriero, Perry Bedgood, C. P. Moore, and Martha Ann Scott; publicity, Jo Layne Jarrell and Meade Evans; refreshments, Johnny Johnson, James Perry, Helen Harris and Gene Smith.

CAN REGISTER IN NIGHT CLASS

N. J. C. Will Conduct Courses When Required Number Are Enrolled

Students may register at any time for night classes at Northeast Junior College, according to W. L. Perkins, director of the night school. As soon as the minimum number desiring a particular course is registered, he will then telephone those who have asked for the class and an organization meeting will be scheduled.

Former service men and women who were discharged after the close of registration for the second semester at the college may enroll in one or more night classes for college credit.

Plans will soon be announced for registration of night school students who desire to attend a nine-week session which is being offered here through the general extension division of Louisiana State University. Enrollers for this period will be considered full-time college students who may take college credit courses or terminal courses.

Discharged veterans who are interested in entering college under this plan are asked to see Mr. Perkins regarding application for educational benefits under the G. I. Bill of Rights. It is not necessary to wait until the registration date for the nine-week term is scheduled.

Veterans who lacked a few units of earning high school diplomas may enter college here as regular freshmen by making satisfactory scores on entrance test prepared by the United States Armed Service Institute and given by an N. J. C. official.

Persons who have part-time employment may enroll as full-time college students and receive all benefits from the Veterans' Administration. The full-time employe who enters college is eligible to have expenses covering fees, books and supplies paid by the government.

Night school classes now meeting include: English, business administration, science and history. The college is in a position to offer night school students courses in the following fields: English, journalism, speech, mathematics, science, business administration, history, economics, agriculture, photography and radio construction.

Those interested in night classes are asked to call Mr. Perkins at 4200.

Miss Burleigh Is February Bride

Prominent Nuptial Event Takes Place At Plantation Home Of Mrs. Yerger

In a beautiful candelight wedding at the George S. Yerger home at Mound at six o'clock on Saturday evening Miss Sallie Graham Burleigh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert William Burleigh become the bride of Francis Reid Hayes, son of Mrs. Robert G. Hayes and the late Mr. Hayes of Charlotte, North Carolina. The Rev. H. N. Alexander of Opelousas officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends.

Tall floor baskets filled with white gladioli and floor standards holding white candles formed a decorative background for the improvised altar. The scene was reflected in the handsome floor length mirror. Miss Martha Yerger wearing an azure blue net model lighted the candles.

Mrs. W. C. Workman, preceding the entrance of the bridal party, played "Nocturne" by Chopin and accompanied Mrs. Francis Jordan who sang "Love's Old Sweet Song" by Malloy and "Because" by d'Hardelot. During the exchange of vows "Clair de Lune" by Debussy was played softly. To the strains of the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" the bridesmaids descended the stairs.

The maid of honor, Miss Bette Davis and bridesmaids, Miss Martha Palmer, Miss Carolyn Flemming of Ferriday, Miss Jane Noble of Newellton, Mrs. James Barnhardt of Charlotte, N. C., wore floor length gowns of marquisette in pastel shades trimmed with gold and silver lace with round necklines and cap shaped short sleeves. They carried beautiful bouquets of pink rosebuds and pastel colored net. The junior bridesmaid, Miss Ednah Margaret Yerger, wore gold net.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Hubert William Burleigh, was lovely in her wedding gown of ivory satin fashioned along princess lines with high neckline and yoke of duchess lace. The long sleeves ended in lily points over the hands and the bodice and sleeves were trimmed with tiny satin covered buttons. The long full skirt fell in graceful folds and extended into a court train. The long veil of illusion was caught to the head with a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid. The train bearer, little Dorothy Yerger, wore pink.

Alan Hayes of Charlotte served his brother as best man and the groomsmen were Robert Hayes of Concord, N. C., Francis Burleigh of Jeanerette, J. B. Mifler of Alexandria and Edward Yerger of Mound.

The bride's mother wore an attractive model fashioned with a black skirt and bodice of blue and silver lame. Her grandmother, Mrs. Sallie Graham Humble of Monroe for whom the bride was named, wore black lace and chiffon. The bridegroom's mother wore a gown of mulberry with a white carnation corsage.

Immediately after the wedding a reception was held. Mrs. Francis Burleigh Sr. and Mrs. Andrew Yerger presided over the beautifully appointed refreshment table which was centered with a handsomely embossed wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. They were assisted by Miss Frances Nell Humble of Shreveport and Miss Sallie Humble of Monroe, cousin and aunt of the bride.

The bride changed her wedding raiment for a spring suit of navy blue with which she wore white accessories and a white orchid corsage. The couple left for a honeymoon trip to New Orleans. They will make their home in Charlotte, N. C.

Mrs. Hayes is a graduate of the Tallulah High School and attended Louisiana State University where she was enrolled in the school of journalism. She is a member of Delta Zeta and Delta Pi sororities. Mr. Hayes, who recently was discharged from the Army Air Forces attended Presbyterian College in South Carolina where he was a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is now employed in Charlotte.

Out of town guests present besides those already mentioned were Mrs. Robert Hayes of Concord, N. C., Robert F. Humble of Shreveport, William Brumlow of Alexandria, James Pendarvis of Jackson, Miss., Mrs. John Potts of Monroe and Joe Wier of Opelousas.

LITTLE THEATRE WILL PRESENT 'GUEST IN THE HOUSE' WITH EXCEPTIONALLY FINE CAST

All obstacles have at last been overcome and the Little Theatre play, "Guest In the House" is now reaching that state of perfection the director, Mrs. Rose Serwich, has been striving for.

Departures from the city of the several members of the cast necessitated a search for substitutes and last week all the threads were successfully untangled. Mrs. Serwich was fortunate in having Mr. C. E. Thompson, prominent Monroe attorney agree to accept the role of Frank Row around who some of the mystery and the comedy of the play revolves. He is quite popular in Monroe's Little Theatre circles.

Allen Van Horn Hundley Jr., has accepted the leading male role. He is well versed in Little Theatre work having appeared in several productions in Alexandria. He is the son of Judge Allen Hundley of Alexandria and is a graduate of the Bolton high school. He attended L. S. U. where he was a pre-law student and studied radio work at Columbia university. He took a course in announcing technique under Col. Patrick J. Kelley, chief announcer for National Broadcasting Company. He is now associated with KNOE Radio station.

The two feminine leads have been given to Miss Louise Gayle McDonald and Miss Sarah Helen Word, dramatic speech instructors. Miss McDonald took speech at L. S. U. and graduated in radio work at Northwestern in Chicago. Miss Word has appeared in several Little Theatre plays in this city. She was exceptionally fine in "Skylock" and "Lady In Retirement."

Scherck Bogan is another Little Theatre favorite who will be welcomed back after an absence of several years with the armed forces.

Dixie Madden in the role of Aunt Martha Proctor, promises to do some of the best work of her Little Theatre career. She has appeared in several productions in this city. She became acquainted with the Thespian world at the age of 6 when she made her initial appearance in "Dr. Oliver."

She graduated from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute and was a member of the Tech Theatrical Group and other Dramatic Fraternities. She majored in Speech, Dramatics and Radio. Appeared in "Janie," and "Charlie's Aunt", and worked on "Death Takes A Holiday", "Bill of Divorcement" and was a member of the cast of the largest musical ever presented at Tech, "Stairyway to the Stars."

She attended New York University at a Radio Workshop in connection with CBS and NBC.

Jerry Juneman, cast in the role of Mrs. Dow, attended L. S. U. and Northeast Junior college. She appeared in the Louisiana Player's Guild and is a member of Delta Phi Omega (Junior college Dramatic fraternity) and Phi Beta (Women's Professional Speech and Music fraternity). She won the Theta Alpha Phi award for the best student director at L. S. U. for the 1944-1945 season. She worked backstage with the L. S. U. opera company for three years and traveled with the company in the capacity of wardrobe manage and make-up artist.

Other prominently cast in "Guest In The House" are Bonnie Holloway, Wes Wise, Malcolmn Steen, Estelle North, Jackie DuBos, Jane McKnight. They are all quite talented and make up the perfect cast for this three-act comedy. The play will be given February 28 and March 1.

MRS. L. W. BOYCE REVIEWS LIFE OF CASIMER THE GREAT OF POLAND FOR BOOK CLUB MEMBERS

The Monroe Literary Club met in the home of Mrs. J. R. Roark with Mrs. R. E. Harrell co-hostess.

The president, Mrs. Julius Chandler, read the qualifications of an ideal club. Various committee reports were given after which the following program was rendered: Mrs. L. W. Boyce gave an informative paper on "Casimer the Great of Poland." She said in part:

Casimer III came to the Polish throne at a time when nothing but the iron hand of a strong ruler could have saved the country from disintegration and proved himself the wished for man of power. He carried forward many reforms and greatly advanced his country's prosperity.

The affairs in Poland in 1320 when Casimer's father was crowned king was in a bad way. The removal of all abuses in the interior of the realm, the revision of the system of taxation, the establishment of relations between the various sections of the people, the restraint of the Germanising movement and the protection of the realm against foreign attacks.

Times had changed. The ruler had to share his power with the priest and the nobles. By the side of these towns rose continuously victorious.

Casimir was qualified for his task; he recognized that chivalry was nearing its end, so he turned his attention with all the greater zeal to important political and social questions. In 1330 making full use of the favorable situation, he concluded with John of Bohemia the treaty of Visegrad in which John abandoned his claims on Poland.

But it was not in his conquests and his advancement of his realm that the true greatness of Casimer lay but in his administration and organization. In the first place he gave Poland, which had only been a personal union of distinct countries a centralized organization. He substituted a superior court of German law in every district which decided cases according to the principles of the Magdeburg Code.

It seemed as if Casimir from the same motives had specially favored the nobility in order to prevent the German towns from gaining political importance. The national opposition between the Poles and Germans was then very strong.

Casimir decided that for the future they should have a new military system. The later successes of Poland were considerably influenced by these military reforms. He took steps to advance the trade of the country since he conferred special privileges on the towns, guaranteed security of person and property to foreign merchants and gave them rights, built roads and bridges, founded the markets, multiplied the number of fairs, opened up trade routes into the interior and what was the most important point, introduced a uniform coinage.

The prosperity of the kingdom suddenly revived and the reputation of the king grew so greatly that he was chosen to arbitrate between the emperor, Charles IV and King Lewis of Hungary.

In 1364 Casimir founded a university. He protected the peasants from the nobles and was called the Peasant's King. He granted rights to the Jews and others.

When Casimir died in 1370, the formerly exhausted and despised Poland was a rich and respected civilized state, and with him also closes the first great era of Polish history.

Mrs. Guy DuPriest read the dramatic poem—"The Murder of Lidice," by Edna St. Vincent Millay.

At the conclusion of the program a delicious salad course was served to the following members: Mrs. Crowley, Mrs. Chandler, Mrs. Karr, Mrs. Parnell, Mrs. DuPriest, Mrs. Kettering, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Womack, Mrs. Boyce, Mrs. J. E. Shannon and Mrs. Moore.

Washington Irving's Famous Story Will Be Presented Here

Sunday afternoon would be an excellent time for children to hear the story of Rip Van Winkle, one of the most beloved stories of early childhood. It will be especially interesting today as Rip Van Winkle will come to life in the play of that name on the stage of the Neville high school auditorium Monday afternoon under the auspices of the Parker Memorial Sunday school class of the First Methodist church sponsors of this year's Clare Tree Major Theatre.

Here is the story: "In a little village in the foothills of the Catskill Mountain in New York lived Rip Van Winkle and his wife, Hilda. They had two children, Judy and Little Rip. Rip was jolly and pleasant and the children of the village loved him. He told them stories and played with them. He sat with the men outside the Inn, over which swung the portrait of George III, and chatted and laughed with them. The whole village found in Rip a pleasant, helpful friend, except the one person whose right it was to expect it, his wife Hilda.

When Rip and Hilda first married, Rip was well-to-do. He had inherited several houses and a large farm with a good house on it. But Rip's besetting sin was idleness. He could not bring himself to work and care for the farm. Hilda soon found herself the working half of the family. When the children came, she was unable to keep up with everything that needed to be done. In the meantime Rip gave away, or loaned to anyone who asked him, everything he owned, until at last they had nothing left but a few acres of land—which Rip was always promising to tend, but never did—and a house badly in need of repair.

All this played havoc with Hilda's temper. Unable to influence her easy going husband in any other way, she scolded and nagged, at the same time carrying on as much of the farm work as she could do, to provide food for her family. Then one day, driven to desperation by the hopelessness of the situation, she brought matters to a climax—she turned the too amiable Rip out of the house.

She had not intended it. She was more than usually upset. The corn she had planted was ripe. She could not get it in alone quickly enough to keep it from spoiling. Twice she had sent little Judy to find her father to ask him to help, but when she walked home in the hot sun to prepare the noon meal she found Rip dancing with neighbors outside the Inn. She did not know they were celebrating the repeal of the Stamp Act, for which Benjamin Franklin had been working so long. She saw Rip dancing with the big brown bear, which Hans had trained from the time he found the little wooly cub on the mountain side. It was the last straw. Furiously she ordered him never to enter her house again. Poor Rip picked up his gun, called his dog, Wolf, and left her.

That evening, Rip, in a glen high up on the mountain, heard a voice calling him. He saw a little man carrying a keg on his shoulder. Rip hastened to help him, but though the man gave up the keg, he answered nothing to Rip's chatter. Soon other men joined them, dressed in old-fashioned Dutch clothes. They began to bowl, and every time the ninepins tumbled, it sounded like a great roll of thunder. They motioned Rip to open the keg and they drank, signing to Rip to drink also. He did so. Soon he fell asleep.

When he awoke he found his clothes ragged, his hair and beard white and his gun rusted and broken. He went to the village. But everything was strange to him. An Indian he had never seen before was showing the war dance and other ceremonies before the village Inn, which now had over it the picture of George Washington instead of King George. Rip's own house was empty and broken. Rip had slept for twenty years.

He was almost desperate when he heard a young matron calling the child in her arms "Rip". It was Judy. It did not take long to convince her that he was her lost father. She took him home, to live peacefully and happily for the rest of his days, his favorite pastime telling the villagers the story of his strange meeting with Hendrick Hudson's men. And when thunder rolls, they still tell their children to listen to Hendrick Hudson's men playing ninepins high up in the mountains.

MRS. IRVING WOLFF EXTENDS GRACIOUS HOSPITALITY TO ONE HUNDRED OR MORE GUESTS

Mrs. Irving Wolff's hospitable home, adorned with beautiful camellias from her gardens was the setting for one of the most gracious courtesies extended Miss Elizabeth Ann Wood, bride-elect, when a coffee hour was given in her honor by Mrs. Wolff, assisted by her niece, Miss Joyce Trichel.

The reception suite was adorned with Purple Dawn camellias and pink gladioli placed on low coffee tables, mantles and at other vantage points.

Miss Wood wore one of her loveliest trousseau models of azure blue crepe with corsage of pink camellias. Miss Trichel fitted delightfully into the picture in a camellia pink lightweight wool model with camellias in her hair.

The bride-elect's mother, Mrs. R. L. Wood, and her aunt, Mrs. Julia Lavin, assisted in the courtesies. Others assisting the hostesses were Mrs. Paul Keller and Mrs. John Pracher.

Miss Martha Thompson, Mrs. Joseph Amman and Miss Carol Pracher assisted in the candlelit dining room.

The tea coffee table, overlaid with handsome lace had for central floral ornamentation a wide spreading plaque of Wedgwood, blue iris and pink camellias. Mrs. E. N. Thompson presided over the silver coffee service placed at one end of the table.

Silver trays held a luscious assortment of viands including small rolls filled with chicken salad, cheese straws, salted nuts, iced individual cakes and pastries.

One hundred or more guests accepted Mrs. Wolff's hospitality.

MISS ELSIE GILL BECOMES THE BRIDE OF SGT. JOHN HONDLENK IN IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

Claiming interest today is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Elsie Louise Gill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Frederick Gill, of Monroe and Sgt. John S. Hondlenk, Jr., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hondlenk, of Monroe. The wedding took place January 5, 1946, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Monroe, with Rev. Hastings officiating in the presence of members of the family and intimate friends.

Miss Eleanor Jean Brueck, neice of the bride, who served as maid of honor, wore a cameo pink spring costume and corsage of cerise carnations.

Mr. Olan Whitney served in the capacity of best man.

The bride wore a beautiful early spring model of pastel blue wool with brown accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of white split carnations, valley lillies with pink radiance roses.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents attended by members of the family and a few intimate friends.

The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School and Northeast Junior College and is employed by the Durrett Hardware and Furniture Company.

Sergeant Hondlenk attended Ouachita Parish High School and has recently returned from serving 42 months overseas. He is now stationed at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Tex., awaiting his discharge.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Miss Eleanor Jean Brueck, Mrs. C. J. Brueck, Mr. John Brueck and Master Leslie Brueck, all of Memphis, Tenn.

LARGE CONCOURSE OF FRIENDS WITNESS THE MARRIAGE OF MISS THOMAS, MR. HORSTMANN

A wedding characterized by much beauty of detail took place at St. Matthew's Catholic Church, January 13 when Miss Helen Virginia Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Thomas became the bride of Mr. Harry Horstmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Horstmann of Norfolk, Va.

The ceremony, performed by Rev. Father Henry Hubley, was witnessed by a large concourse of friends and relatives.

Beautiful flowers banked the altar and chancel where myriad cathedral tapers burned in tall, white, floor candelabra. The lighting of the candles was an impressive feature of the ceremony.

At the appointed hour a prenuptial organ concert was rendered.

The maid of honor, Miss Freddie Jean Endom and the matron of honor, Mrs. Alfred Abdall and the bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Cannon, Miss Juanita Hamilton, Miss Latrelle Kutz and Miss Margaret Hausherr wore beautiful white net models bustle effect, with long full skirts and tight fitting basques. They all carried arm bouquets of American Beauty roses.

The flower girl, Betty Rose Haddad, wore a gown fashioned identical with the one worn by the bridesmaids.

The bridegroom's attendants were Messers. Jasper Haddad, Edward Thomas, Welzie Garrett, Bernard Thomas, Edward Thomas. His best man was Mr. U. B. Semoneaux of Plattesville, La.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore the traditional white satin wedding gown fashioned with a long full skirt and tight fitting bodice embroidered in seed pearls. The sleeves were long and puffed at the shoulders. The veil falling beyond the hem line of the skirt, was caught to the hair with a Juliet cap of pearls.

The bride carried a white prayer book marked with a spray of white orchids.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Butterfly room of the Frances Hotel. The bride's table, developed in white with candles gleaming in silver candelabra at either end, was centrally adorned with the beautifully embossed wedding cake. A variety of confections were served during the evening.

The bride changed her wedding raiment for a smart, early spring, tailleur of gold colored light weight wool with silver fox furs and black accessories. Her corsage was of orchids.

The young couple are now at home at 502 Wood street, this city, following a honeymoon in Hot Springs, Ark.

Confidentially

It's Camellia time in Monroe and gardners are displaying with great pride the beautiful blooms. Some of the finest camellias in Monroe are grown by Dr. and Mrs. Irving Wolff in the gardens of their home on Park avenue. Almost every variety known to horticulturists are grown successfully and shared with friends. Dr. and Mrs. Wolff, as in all other things, are most generous with their camellias. . . in fact, they grow flowers so that their friends also can enjoy them. It would be difficult to estimate the number of people who have derived pleasure from the camellias grown by Dr. and Mrs. Wolff.

After all it isn't what we have but what we share that brings great peace of mind and contentment.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Bernhardt have two beautiful daughters, Joy and Vettye, who have won enough honors to turn the head of any girl. They are very modest, however, and accept the honors bestowed upon them with charming grace. They are both students at L. P. I., Ruston, where they are great favorites on the campus. Vettye was recently named one of the twelve students for Who's Who of America. She won first place among the girls. She is president of the Women's club at L. P. I.

Joy won second place among the sixteen contestants in the beauty contest recently conducted at L. P. I. She also claimed the distinction of being selected for first place in the beauty contest at Neville high school during her senior days. Louisiana Tech is famed for its beautiful girls so naturally the honor of being named one of the outstanding beauties carries considerable weight.

There is a charming new personality in Monroe's music circles. Mrs. Talmadge Boynton, who is stationed at Selman Field. She possesses a beautiful lyric soprano voice and is giving generously of her talent. Mrs. Boynton, since coming to Monroe, has been in great demand as guest artist at civic club luncheons and women's club meetings. Mrs. Boynton is delighted to have such an accomplished musician as Miss Annette Meyers as her piano accompanist. Together they are delighting audiences with their brilliant performances. Mrs. Boynton's technical accomplishment is of such high order she is enabled to sing opera when the vocal demand is heavy, with as much perfection and ease as the simpler songs of today.

Mrs. Boynton has a most interesting musical background. Her father, Sidney King Russell, is the well known composer and her mother is a former opera singer. Mrs. Boynton is a graduate of Wellesley and has studied extensively with many of the famous voice teachers. Members of the Current Literature clubs consider it a triumph to present Mrs. Boynton on their program February 13 when Mrs. Henry Charles Menuet will be hostess. Miss Meyers will serve as Mrs. Boynton's accompanist. Miss Meyers has created a splendid niche for herself in musical circles since arriving in this city from her home in Fort Worth, Texas. She has served as hostess at the Service Club, Selman Field, ever since the field was established, and has made a wide circle of friends in the civilian world of Monroe. Although Selman Field is now in the process of evacuation it is generally hoped that Miss Meyers will be the very last to leave.

Miss Simmons Is Guest Of Honor At Bridal Shower

Miss Sue Simmons, whose marriage to Mr. John Homer Messier of New Bedford, Mass., will take place February 23, was the central figure in a group of intimate friends in the home of Miss Margaret Flett.

A Valentine motif was colorfully portrayed in all the details with crimson camellias supplying the floral note.

Delicious refreshments were served from a beautifully appomted tea table reflecting the Valentine colors.

Splendid Talks Feature Program

American Association University Women Discuss World Affairs

Carrying out a theme of world problems, the program of the last meeting of the American Federation of University Women was highlighted by three talks on international affairs. Mrs. A. L. Tatum was a gracious hostess to members of the Monroe branch of the organization, with Miss Mary Clay and Mrs. H. S. Chilton as co-hostesses.

Miss Kate Perkins, chairman of the committee on international relations, planned the program comprising discussions of world affairs given by Miss Ola Mae Pennington, Mrs. Sara Hollingsworth, and Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl.

Miss Pennington presented many vital factors included in an address, "Daisies and Foreign Policy," which was made by Raymond G. McKelney, associate professor of political science at Occidental College, California, when he spoke last fall at a conference of A. A. U. W.

He declared that we in the United States would like a foreign policy based on love—the love of some other country for us. Our first question is, "How do they feel about us?" If we find that they do not like us very much, we are hurt, and we often become isolationists. Yet, just which nation do we love?

As a people we are still immature in the matter of fusing emotion and intellect. We are adolescent in failing to understand that foreign policy is not based on love. Likewise we are adolescent in failing to realize that the richer and more powerful a nation becomes, the more it is hated, feared and envied by other countries.

When we function as business men, we do not expect love from our customers; we seek it by creating opportunity for mutual advantage. Professor McKelney urged that we stop approaching foreign policy with the antics of a love sick girl toying with a daisy. He advised instead that we seek in our dealings with nations a fulfillment of self interest and common sense.

"We want peace but we prepare for war." One goal of the war came to be the achievement of the "Four Freedoms" for all mankind. Today we are busily engaged in imposing permanent want on two nations, Japan and Germany, while we are pledged to raise standards of living in all parts of the world.

We are encouraging the spirit of liberty and freedom everywhere. Yet, we know the two can never thrive on an empty stomach.

Some of the things which Professor McKelney advocates are: progressive demilitarization, assignment of all strategic bases and waterways to international control; international control over manufacture of aviation and the operation of aviation, over development of the atomic energy as to materials, research and products, international administration of enemy territory, international supervision of elections when the question of free expression in the contest arises, offer to renegotiate on the absolute veto on action allowed the great powers in the Security Council of the United Nations Organization, speeding the objectives of the Human Rights Commission provided for in the United Nations charter, enlarging the obligations under the Breton Woods agreements to insure all of the peoples more effective access to the bounties of the earth, accepting compulsory jurisdiction of the new World Court.

Mrs. Hollingsworth gave an informative discussion of "Neighboring Nations." She stressed the importance and difficulty of promoting lasting peace through world organization.

Participating in other countries' affairs is a responsibility which the United Nations must assume, she said Secretary of State Byrnes declares. "Today all nations are neighbors, and although we may have special relations with our nearer neighbors in the Americas, we must remember that we and they are parts of a single, interdependent world."

We have learned by experience that to have good neighbors, we must be a good neighbor, Mrs. Hollingsworth said. We have discovered that understanding and good will cannot be bought and cannot be forced. They must spring spontaneously from the people.

The world system which we seek to create must be based on the principle of the sovereign equality of nations. This means equal respect for the individuality and sovereignty of nations, large and small.

Believing this, the position of the United States will continue to be that all nations which have borne the burdens of the war must participate in making the peace.

Speaking on "The Atom and World Politics," Mrs. Stahl compared the geographic unit of the modern world with the geographical unit of the Greek States and with that of the American states 160 years ago. James Madison pointed out that states within a geographic unit must unite or fight.

The strongest type of world unity is essential, the speaker declared. "We need something in the international organization that is as powerful as the atomic bomb."

There can be no greater power than atomic energy, according to William Hocking, professor emeritus of Harvard University. Therefore, world government must have a monopoly of the bomb. We must conclude that either we vest all political power in one agency or else that we cease to coerce independent states through use of the atomic bomb.

Only two rights need to be taken from national states: The "right" to make war against other nations and the "right" to secede.

According to Dorothy Thompson, "The Big Three" can never maintain a lasting peace. Only a "Big One" can do it. And the "Big One" will eventually be created by the revolution of modern war, by conquest and domination—if not by cooperative agreement.

During the social hour which followed the program, a delicious sweet course and coffee were served by Mrs. Tatum to the following members and guests: Mrs. John Cecil Currie, president of the local chapter, Mrs. Seymour Solomon, Mrs. Y. L. Pinkston, Miss Marjorie Oliver, Miss Myrtle Rodgers, Miss Kate Perkins, Miss Gladys Peck, Miss Ola Mae Pennington, Mrs. W. R. Hammond, Mrs. Sara Hollingsworth, Miss Frances Flanders, Miss Harriet Boyle, Mrs. W. L. Perkins, Mrs. Mary Vaughan Peavy, Miss Zelda Moss, Miss Gladys Whitfield, Miss Thompson, Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl.

SOCIALLY . . . speaking

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Campbell and two sons, John and Chip of Pittsburgh, Pa., were the guests last week of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. B. Gibson. They were enroute to visit with relatives in Phoenix, Ariz. They were delighted with Monroe and the gardens now abloom with camallias and expressed a desire to return at some future date.

Friends are welcoming Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harper Jr., and family back to their home in West Monroe following an absence of several years. They have been residing at their country home in Bawcomville.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Glasgow are now residing in Parkerburg, West Virginia. Mrs. Glasgow, the former Miss Martha Jane Hill, has been residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bridger Thornhill, during the absence of her husband overseas, Mr. Glasgow, a former Lieutenant General, recently returned from overseas.

Announcement has just been made of the marriage of Miss Lena Spatafora and Petty Officer Hilton E. Roberts, February 5 at St. Matthew's Catholic church with Reverend Father J. O. Marsh officiating in the presence of relatives and few intimate friends.

Coffee Hour In Atkins Home Is Charming Event

A coffee hour in the home of Mrs. P. M. Atkins with Miss Ruth Atkins, hostess, honoring Mrs. Robert Jordan, who recently took up residence in this city, was a charming interlude for a few members of the younger set last Thursday morning.

The Atkins home, spacious and comfortable, was adorned with spring flowers. Especially attractive was the dining room where the coffee table, beautifully appointed with silver, was presided over by Mrs. William Harper and Mrs. George Weaks Jr.

Red Carnations and red camellias arranged in a heart-shaped plaque fluted around with crimson ribbon suggestive of the Valentine season, formed the central floral decor. Silver trays held luscious sandwiches, pastries and other confections.

McHenry-Anderson Nuptials Of Interest

A wedding of widespread interest was that of Miss Margie McHenry, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. McHenry of Columbia, La., and Mr. Raymond F. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Anderson of Jacksonville, Texas. The wedding was solemnized in Monroe, January 19, at 7 p. m. in the First Methodist church with Rev. Lea Joyner officiating, using the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a beautiful three-piece suit of rose with black accessories with a lovely corsage of white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson plan to make their home in Monroe.

BAPTIST WOMEN TO MEET IN PINEVILLE

On February 14 and 15 the Executive Board of Louisiana Baptist Woman's Missionary Union will meet at Louisiana College, Pineville, to make plans and set goals for 1946. Mrs. R. A. Everett, of Oak Grove, state president, is also chairman of the board.

There are seventy-five members of this board and they come from every section of Louisiana. Those representing this part of the state are: Mrs. R. A. Everett, Oak Grove; Mrs. C. W. Jones, Mangham; Mrs. L. G. Wilkinson, Monroe; Mrs. H. L. Driskell, Monroe; Mrs. H. K. Litton, Monroe; Mrs. D. R. Swetman, Rayville; Mrs. H. M. Bennett, Bastrop; Mrs. Paul Elledge, Lake Providence; Mrs. H. C. Bridger, Columbia; Mrs. A. D. Thomson, Alto; Mrs. E. R. Melton, Bastrop; Mrs. R. E. Wilson, West Monroe, and Mrs. T. T. Towles, Vidalia.

Special reason to look pretty . . . and a very special way to do it!

PLAN DEDICATION OF ORNATE PLAQUES AT NEVILLE HIGH

Bronze Plates Will List Alumni Giving Lives For Democracy's Cause

Former students of the Monroe City High School and its immediate successor, the Neville High School, have formulated extensive plans to pay honor to the memory of a beloved teacher, to three long-time and highly revered members of the city school board who have passed to their reward, and to men from this school system who gave their lives in the recent war.

Those to be thus honored will be named on beautiful enduring memorial bronze plaques, placed in the Neville High School lobby and a similar but larger bronze honor roll placed in the Neville auditorium.

The dedicatory exercises are planned for about the middle of March, stated William C. Spight, chairman of the Memorial Fund.

The students of Mr. Spight's home room in Neville High School started off this worthy project as a fitting tribute to those who had in the past served to make the name of the Monroe City High and Neville High school a proud one in respect to loyalty of the graduates and the achievements that have ever characterized the school and its alumni. The sum of $25 was raised in Mr. Spight's room in four days. Then it jumped to $41 and kept going forward. Then alumni as well as other rooms at the school contributed and to date the sum of approximately $2,000 has been given. While no public appeal for funds has been made, the fund is still open and the public can give if they feel so inclined for the memorials planned will cost in all probability considerably more than was at first anticipated.

Soon after the financial start was made by Mr. Spight's room, a letter was sent out to parents of Neville High School pupils which read as follows:

"Superintendent E. L. Neville who has been with the Monroe City Schools for 44 years, has suggested that we proceed with plans for various memorials which have been delayed by war-time restrictions. We are eager to fulfill his desires of erecting bronze memorials for the following:

"1. Mrs. Minnie Ruffin, teacher, principal, dean of girls, and friend of our school for more than 30 years. Deceased January 29, 1945.

"2. Arnold Bernstein, mayor of Monroe, and also president of the Monroe City School Board for more than 18 years. Largely through his suggestion and efforts we have today our beautiful Neville High School building. Deceased, December 21, 1937.

"3. J. M. Cobb and T. E. Flournoy, also were for years active members of the City of Monroe School Board and both are deceased.

"4. A memorial plaque for our 20 or more alumni who have lost their lives in military service during World War II and it is fitting that we erect a memorial plaque in their memory.

"5. A bronze tablet containing names of all former Neville High School students who served in the armed forces in World War II."

Furthering the cause of the Neville High School Memorial Fund, Paul J. Neal, principal, late in 1945, sent out the following letter:

"The students, faculty, graduates and friends of Neville High School and the old Monroe City High School are planning a suitable memorial for many of our loved ones who have contributed so much to the maintenance of our democratic way of life and the future happiness of those who are to follow in their footsteps.

"I speak of Mrs. Minnie Ruffin, who gave a lifetime of service to hundreds of Monroe's present citizens; of the late Mayor Arnold Bernstein, who saw our city schools grow into one of the finest educational systems in the nation; of the late Thomas Flournoy and J. M. Cobb, both school board members, who worked faithfully with Mayor Bernstein for our city schools.

"Twenty-three of our graduates and ex-students gave their lives that you and I might continue to be Americans. The names of these 23 heroes together with the other 595 men and women who served in World War II will be honored with individual name plates on this large series of plaques. In a couple of generations, these plaques will be a memorial to all of these gallant men and women. Therefore, we are planning something that will be both suitable and substantial.

"The cost will not be small and I know you will want to help erect a memorial which will rightly honor these friends and relatives of ours who have done so much for you and for me.

"Some of our present students who are working after school and on Saturdays have contributed $5 each. Some of our business men have sent in checks for $100 to $150 each. I know you will want to have a part in the erection of the memorial. Please mail your check to the Neville High School Memorial Fund."

The huge plaque to be erected in the lobby of Neville High School is to be a beautiful work of art. It will show on the left the tower of the old city high school under which will be the following inscriptions:

"MINNIE MARKETTE RUFFIN, our friend, teacher, principal and dean of girls. A guiding hand for this school from 1909 until her retirement in 1941. Her influence and traditions remain with us. We loved 'Mrs. Ruffin.'" And also: JAMES MANSFIELD COBB, Monroe City School Board member 1923-1940. A faithful worker for progress of the Monroe City Schools."

As companion piece to the tower on the left, is, at the right, the imposing front entrance of magnificent Neville High School. Under this is the following: "ARNOLD BERNSTEIN, mayor of our city and president of the Monroe City School Board, 1919-1937. Largely through his efforts we have this beautiful building and progressive school system."

Still underneath this is a tribute to Mr. Flournoy as follows: THOMAS EDMOND FLOURNOY, Monroe City School Board member, 1903-1931. Associated with progress of Monroe City Schools from early days."

In the center of the plaque is the inscription: "Dedicated to the Memory of the former students of Neville High and Monroe City High School who made the supreme sacrifice while in the armed forces of World War II, 1941-1945."

Beneath are the names of the men who gave their lives for their country: Roland Adcock, Arthur Melvin Auerback, Hurlan Beauman, David Monroe Doughty, Harry Francis Fernandez, William Lyle Garretson, Robert William Germany, William Earl Gerson, Arthur Cramer Haas, James William Hart, Riley Clyde Hook, Philip Kalil, Anthony LaPietra, Noel Fairfax Learned, James Henry McClendon, Martin Lenuel McCoy, Ben A. Peters, Jr., Robert Lamb Pribble, Billy Davis Register, Emile Jack Selig, Jr., Curtis Maurice Sizemore, Charles Titche, Jr., and Danforth Earl Wilkens.

The Boy Scout motto is "Be Prepared" and in this year of transition—it has deeper, fuller meaning than ever in its history. For in 1946, the Scouts of the world are preparing to face the future—of building a new world—one in which construction—and not destruction—is the goal. A future that knows only peaceful living, where every man is a brother to every other man regardless of his race, creed or color. It is the youth of today that will be the world leaders of tomorrow. So, on this 36th Anniversary of the Boy Scouts, we pay tribute to this great organization for the work it has done in the past—for the work it will do in the future as the Scouts of the World Build Together for peace and happiness.

I DON'T WISH TO DISCOURAGE YOU, LIEUTENANT LEE... BUT A CIVILIAN WHO CHARGES AN OFFICER WITH ASSAULT CAN MAKE IT ROUGH FOR THE SOLDIER...
I GATHER THAT THIS MAN BRUTHER, WHO SAYS YOU STRUCK HIM, MUST BE TRYING TO MAKE A SHOW FOR HIS FRIENDS IN THIS AREA...
HE MUST BE, SIR, OR HE WOULDN'T HAVE THE GALL TO PRESS THIS THING... AFTER THE ARMY SAVED HIS NECK IN THE FIGHT AT THE WEATHER STATION
YOUR BIGGEST PROBLEM IS THE FACT THAT SO MANY WITNESSES TO THIS ALLEGED ASSAULT ARE DEAD OR MISSING... IT MAY BE BRUTHER'S WORD AGAINST YOURS... I'LL LET YOU KNOW, LEE...
THANK YOU, SIR...
GOLLY, THE MAJOR DOESN'T KNOW THE HALF OF IT... FLIP CORKIN GAVE ME A PACKET TO DELIVER TO THE INTERIOR... I AM TO MENTION IT TO NO ONE - IT HAS BEEN DELAYED ALL THIS TIME — AND NOW I'M CAUGHT IN THIS CRAZY ASSAULT MESS
MY ORDERS READ THAT I AM ON LEAVE, NOT ON A SECRET MISSION! I'VE SENT A MESSAGE TO MY SQUADRON'S NEW BASE, BUT SO FAR, NO ANSWER... I DON'T KNOW HOW TO EXPLAIN MY PICKLEMENT TO THESE GUYS WITHOUT TELLING ABOUT THE SECRET PACKET!
MEANWHILE, AT AN AMERICAN ARMY HOSPITAL MILES AWAY FROM WHERE TERRY FACES COURT-MARTIAL INQUIRY
GOTTA HELP TERRY... HE NEEDS ME... GOTTA GET TO HIM
TAKE IT EASY, MISS COBB... I'LL COME BACK WHEN I CAN...
FULL HOUSE, EH, SERGEANT?
YES, SIR... THE CHINESE ARE GETTING SHOTS TO HEAD OFF THE THREAT OF EPIDEMIC THAT HAS THIS PLACE SWAMPED... WE COULD USE A DOZEN WARD MEN...
YOU HAVE AN AMERICAN GIRL HERE, A MISS COBB?
YES, SIR... SHE'S FULL OF DRUGS TO OFFSET THE AFTER-EFFECTS OF EXPOSURE... SHE WAS HELD AS A HOSTAGE BY SOME DIE-HARD JAPS...
WE HAD A RADIO MESSAGE REQUESTING A STATEMENT FROM HER AS A WITNESS IN A COURT-MARTIAL INQUIRY AT THE DISTRICT HEADQUARTERS... BUT IF SHE'S HOPPED UP SHE'D HARDLY BE QUALIFIED!
I DON'T KNOW, SIR... THE DOCTOR WILL HAVE TO PASS ON THAT...
GOTTA FIND TERRY... GOTTA HELP HIM...
